GET DIVORCES WHILE YOU WAIT

Mexican States Compete for Business of Cutting the Matrimonial Ties

TUSCON, Arizona, June 3. — Mexico again is bidding for foreign recognition, but not through the department of state. This time she is bidding for recognition by foreign citizens who wish to sever marital ties quickly and painlessly and who are willing to pay the price.

Three states—Morolos, Sonora and Chihuahua—have entered into cut-throat competition for the trade that brings in its wake a pleasant jingle of coin, and all three offer programs ambitious enough to cause sleepless nights for divorce lawyers who practice in other climes.

None of the three states requires legal residence for divorce decrees of mutual consent. They only ask that provision be made for any children or third party affected and offer as wide a range for complaint. However, the provisions for speed vary with the state of Morolos "leading by a nose."

Only Ten Days

Morolos divorce lawyers point out that their state requires but ten days between the filing of the suit and granting of final papers, that no personal service is required unless the suit is contested and that legal residence is not required whether the action is contested or not. They also point to Cuernavaca, the state capital, as a pleasant resort city in which to spend the time while connubial knots are being untied.

Next, from a point of speed, Comes Sonora, where two weeks are required for severing the ties if the divorce is by mutual consent. However, six months legal residence and personal service of papers are required if the suit is contested. Futhermore, non-residents must produce a copy of their marriage certificate.

Slower State

Chihuahua lags in the matter of speed. A residence of one year is required if the suit is contested. However, alert Juarez lawyers do not propose to let the golden goose glide by. They have drawn up a proposal to reduce the time for mutual consent decrees to thirty days and make service legal through publication. The Chihuahua legislature will meet April 1 to consider the plan which is almost identical with the Yucatan statute. But despite the attractiveness of the path to freedom there is one serious drawback—the Mexican courts have no way of enforcing alimony decrees granted in proceedings involving non-residents. However, Mexican lawyers predict this will be no thorn in the side of those who wish to loose the bonds of matrimony expeditiously and painlessly.

YOUTH DEFENDED BY WOMEN'S DEAN

Illinois University Official Praises Students of Today

INDIANAPOLIS, June 3. — "When middle age is blameless, then you may criticize youth, but I have no patience with those who are constantly finding fault with the young people of this generation," Miss Maria Leonard, dean of women of the University of Illinois, said in an address before several hundred college students and graduates. Miss Leonard, who has been Illinois dean for three years, is president of the university section of the national association of deans.

"I have been working with young people, and older people, too, for that matter for 15 years, and I have talked to thousands of boys and girls. I can say today that the young people are more capable and more frank and more honest and straighforward than they ever were. They must be. Look at the responsibility we put upon the individual. When I wish to renew my faith in the order of things, I turn to youth every time," declared Miss Leonard.

"Young men today are just as fine or finer than they ever were, and young women just as virtuous. They are thinking of their lives in terms of purpose, in terms of service; and for every one who attracts the spotlight of attention through some indiscretion, there are thousands who are going along in a fine, steady mode of living."

ACCEPT CHALLENGE OF GYRO CLUB TO GAME OF BASEBALL

Yesterday afternoon the Rotary Club accepted a challenge from the Gyro Club to play them a game of baseball on June 17 at 3 p.m. with players who have not played in any of the leagues, the proceeds to go toward the Gyro playground fund.

The challenge was accepted with evident reluctance as some of the star Rotarians are no longer available. However it is thought a team good enough to give the other club a run for its money will be organized. Jack Nicholls and George Woodland will have charge.

ENGLISH FOOTBALL TEAM IS VICTORIOUS

FORT WILLIAM, June 3. — The touring English football team defeated the New Ontario eleven nine goals to nothing yesterday afternoon.

SPORT CHAT

An interesting line-up of players has been made for the late Tom Jones' benefit football match tonight and a good game should be the result. Apart from this, however, it would behove soccer fans of town to turn out in force for the match so that their admissions may go to the benefit of the family of one who was a strong supporter of the game and who gave freely of his services, while alive, in refereeing many league games in a fair and impartial manner.

The worst need in local baseball circles is another catcher. With three teams in the league, there are only two backstops available—Dave Balfour and Charlie McKeown—and these two have been shifted around from team to team for the various fixtures. So it would be hard to say definitely to whom these two prized players belong. If there is another catcher in town he should step out in order to simplify matters in the baseball league.

Owing to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve being unable to field a team last night, the Intermediate League football game between the Y-Macs and the Naval Reserve was postponed. Instead, the High School played an all star team from both the Y Macs and the Navy defeating them with ease, the score standing five to nothing in favor of the High School. The next regularly scheduled Intermediate League fixture is set for next Wednesday evening between the High School and Naval Reserve.

EDMONTON TO HAVE HOCKEY NEXT WINTER

Lease of Arena to be Given Some Representative Organization With Team in Western Canada Hockey League

EDMONTON, June 3.—Edmonton will have hockey next winter. It may not be of as high a standard as the Eskimos of the old Western Hockey League provided, but, according to officials of the new Western Canada Hockey League now being formed in the south of the province, the minor league that will have a representative team in this city will have many of the professionals of other years playing in it and most of the promising amateurs that blossomed forth last season.

Deacon White, for years a sport promoter of this city, has made application for a lease of the arena at the exhibition grounds for next winter. Mr. White handled the old Eskimos before Kenneth C. MacKenzie took over the franchise in 1921.

Another well-known sportsman of this city has also made application, Barney Stanley, defence man of last year's team, having made his bid for an arena lease.

At the meeting of the executive of the Edmonton Exhibition the applications were received but no decision was made. A full investigation will be made before the placing of the lease.

GOLF CLOTHES WORN STREETS OF BROADWAY

NEW YORK, June 3.—Broadway, separated by many long miles of asphalt from the nearest golf-course, is being treated this spring to a display of what the well-dressed man will wear in pursuit of the little white ball.

Baggy knickers and gaudy hose are affected by scores of bare-headed youths who parade the street during the afternoon. The obvious fact that most of them could not tell a golf-club from a pogo-stick makes no difference.

The youth of Broadway loves color, and golf togs offer it to him this season in varieties not to be obtained in more appropriate clothing.

The Lady and Her Fur

Mrs. Newlyrich (about to purchase her first real fur coat and feeling called upon to pick out every possible flaw—: "Are you quite sure this fur won't shrink in the rain—one is sometimes caught without an umbrella, you know."

Long-Suffering Salesman — Madam, that fur didn't shrink on the last party who wore it and he was never known to carry an umbrella.
