AUSSIES PRODUCE 'ERSATZ' CLOTHES

Display Clothing Manufactured With Synthetic Material

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — Australian mannequins are modelling "ersatz" clothes and demonstrating the latest scientific aids to enhance beauty at the Chemical Exposition at present being held in the Sydney Town Hall.

In the "chemical fashion show" a group of beautiful mannequins displays attractive, up-to-the-minute bathing suits, evening frocks, street dresses, rain coats and shoes made of synthetic materials all owing their existence to chemistry.

Coal, casein from milk, oxygen, nitrogen and hydrogen and various organic acids for dyes all play their part in the production of the materials. There are brief swim-suits of plastic and rayon, evening frocks of rayon, so cleverly woven that it looks like wool or linen, plastic raincoats with nylon umbrellas, plastic shoes and brilliantly-colored gowns of acetate rayon.

The mannequins are introduced by a Sydney actress, Muriel Steinbeck, star of the Australian film, "Smithy."

Women visitors to the exposition have been especially attracted by a completely-equipped working laboratory, staffed by the food preservation division of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. Qualified scientists analyze various types of food while the public looks on.

PAPER GOES MODERN

BIRMINGHAM (CP) — For the first time since its foundation in 1857, The Birmingham Post now carries news on its front page, formerly devoted to advertisements.

Store Application Refused by Council

An application by the A. MacKenzie Furniture Co. to remain open on the evening of November 1 for a "preview of Christmas merchandise" was turned down by city council last night. The application also asked permission for the store to remain open on the night of November 2 but since that is a Saturday night and the stores can remain open legally that night, council expressed no opinion in that regard. City Clerk Thain said that opinion by the city solicitor indicated that the store might remain open Friday night without infracting the law but council was of the opinion that it would be setting an unwelcome precedent to agree to allowing stores to stay open after regular hours.

TURGEON NOT RUNNING FOR HOUSE AGAIN

PRINCE GEORGE — J. Gray Turgeon, former Member of Parliament for Cariboo, has advised Frank Clark, president of the Cariboo Liberal Association, that he will not be able to accept the federal nomination again. He suggests that a nominating convention should be held fairly soon and that organization for an election be commenced without delay. The candidate should soon start touring the riding.

HOW METEOR COULD HAVE DESTROYED WORLD—This artist's conception from the Hayden planetarium in New York shows how the world might have been destroyed by the bombardment of meteoric lumps from the head of a comet. This destruction could have happened recently when our planet—the earth—whizzed through a mass of meteors, debris from the tail of the Giacobini-Zinner comet which passed within 135,000 miles of the path of the earth. This shows what would have happened if the wandering lumps or even the mass of them in the head of the comet should strike any large city in Canada. Not only would the cities themselves be destroyed, but the crust of the earth would be breached and terrific earthouakes would result. People in the foreground are shown praying on the brink of an abyss while comet fragments rain down from the brilliantly lit heavens and the cities are pounded into dust in the background.

BIRTHS INCREASE IN NETHERLANDS

NEW YORK (CP)—Birth rates for the Netherlands have been increasing sharply in the last year, the Netherlands Information Bureau here reports. The current rate of 35.4 per thousand compares with 20.1 per thousand before the war and reflects a large increase in the number of marriages.

The bureau says this birth rate never before was approached in the country. The famine which ravaged the country immediately after the war had its effect in a very low birth rate in large cities, which reported a rate of 14.8 for January, 1946, but that rate has been climbing until the latest report from the large cities shows a rate of 38.1 per thousand.

The country also reports a low death rate, although statisticians suggest that many premature deaths among older people during the famine may be partly responsible for the better showing now.

Former Black Hawk Is Visitor to City

SHORT SPORT

Cleveland Indians of the American League closed one of the most bizarre chapters in baseball history six years ago yesterday when they dismissed manager Oscar Vitt. Vitt's resignation had been demanded by 12 players in an unprecedented rebellion in June.

The $500,000 grandstand and clubhouse at Cleveland's Thistle Down track burned to the ground two years ago today in the fifth United States racetrack fire of the year. Seven hundred horses stabled at the far end of the track escaped injury.
