INTERESTED IN THE LAST WEST

"The delegates to the convention of the International General Passenger and Tickets Association, which was held in Seattle last week were keenly disappointed after spending two hours here on Saturday evening that the arrangements had not called for a more extended visit in Vancouver. Everyone of the visitors was delighted with the city and none more than I."

The speaker was Mr. J. D. McDonald, assistant general passenger agent for the Grand Trunk Railway in Chicago, who accompanied the visitors to Vancouver and remained over to take a trip up to Prince Rupert and out on the Grand Trunk Pacific as far as the end of steel.

"This is my first visit to Vancouver, and I am surprised to see such a large and well built city. It is a city to be proud of. This was the first time our association met on the Pacific slope, and many of the eastern delegates were amazed at the wonderful progress being made on this coast. The convention will come back west in 1915 to San Francisco, and I am in hopes that it will be held in Vancouver before long.

Down in Chicago and the middle states there is a great deal of interest in ritish Columbia, which is regarded as the last and most promising west. I believe there will be a big exodus from the States to this province before long and an inducement will be the opening up of the interior by the new railway lines and improvement of transportation facilities."

Mr. McDonald was general passenger agent for the Grand Trunk in Toronto for many years, and is one of the most popular and best known officials of the system.

Mr. McDonald followed out his intention and spent a few days in Prince Rupert, leaving on the Prince George Friday morning. He was delighted and surprised at the wonderful progress made by this city and foretells a great future for it.

Floating Dock for Canada.

The two Dutch tugs Roodezee and Swaitzezee, reputed to be the two most powerful in the world, took in tow last Saturday at Barrow the huge floating ship dock the Duke of Connaught for the long voyage to Montreal. The floating dock is the second largest in the world. It has been built specially to enable it to be utilized at all seasons of the year, the possible freezing of water in the compartments and the affecting of mechanism by frost being averted. The dock is capable of lifting the largest vessels afloat, her length over all being 600 feet, breadth 135 feet and height above pontoon deck 42 feet.

Forgot Her Baby.

A woman was seen to place her little girl on a seat at Eastbourne railway station on Tuesday and go away for a ticket. She then disappeared, and the child was handed over to the police. It was learned later that the baby was accidentally left behind by the mother, who was leaving by the train. As soon as she realized what had happened, she took the first train back to Eastbourne, where her child was restored to her.

Companies Will Join

The Liverpool correspondent of the "Telegraph" wires that there is little doubt entertained in the shipping circles that the reported fusion of the Allan and C.P.R. steamship lines will shortly be fully justified. It is understood also that the Canadian mail contract is now safe for the joint concern, which in its combined form, will enjoy the closest relations with the Dominion Government.

For a Deserving Cause

The ladies of New Westminster are collecting funds for a purse which they will present to Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught for the Victorian Order of Nurses. Mrs. C. B. McAllister is acting as treasurer of the money collected. They have already succeeded in collecting quite a sum.

London Trains Collide.

The bravery of the driver of a Tube train in sticking to his post minimized what might have been a disastrous collision on the Piccadilly Tube Railway on Wednesday night. As it was sixteen people were slightly injured. The collision occurred at the Caledonian road station at 7:30, whe na non-stop train, proceeding from Finsbury Park to Hammersmith, crashed into the rear of a stationary train. The driver, seeing the danger, applied the brakes with all possible speed. By his promptitude the impact was rendered less severe. The driver applied the brakes with such force that his leg was crushed and he sustained other injuries.

Died from Eating Eggs

Shortly after having escaped the ravages of fever at Powell River hospital, Moses Mossadara, a Russian, died from eating 21 eggs.

According to the doctor who was summoned to the man's side shortly after the celebration of his fever convalescence, Mossadara ate himself to death while in a weakened condition.

The man's body was brought to Vancouver where interment was made.
