The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♥

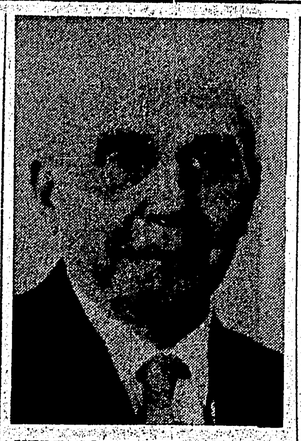
The end play is the dramatic way for declarer to bring in a hand but, where the finesse, though lacking in glamor, figures to have the better chance, I'm all for it, as South might have reasoned in today's hand.

The nine of hearts was opened against the three no trump contract. East ducked and South won with the ten. Declarer's first play was the king of spades which East, perhaps unwisely, decided to take. He then established the heart suit by leading the ace and another. At this point it became mandatory to play West for the ace of diamonds, for if East had that card the contract was doomed.

Declarer, therefore, mentally projected an end play against West who, having shown with only two hearts, was likely to be long in spades. He cashed his four clubs and queen and jack of spades. Then in the hope that West had the ten of spades, he played the three. East, however, showed up with that card and claimed the balance.

Declarer's plan had been well conceived, but we feel a finessing program in diamonds would have been a superior selection. The play to build up a diamond trick will work in a great number of cases. The contemplated attack will fail whenever West has all three honors, and it will fail when East has both the queen and ten, but in the other cases, which are considerably more frequent, it will succeed.

The suggested play consists of leading the nine of diamonds from dummy. When East plays low, the nine is permitted to ride. If it forces the queen his troubles are over, but it loses to the ten and West gets out. On the next lead of diamonds, declarer intends to finesse against East's queen. When that card shows up, the day's toil is ended.



HERE FOR TOUR — General Louis Veress, president of the World Federation of Hungarian Freedom Fighters, arrived in Montreal from Brussels March 14 on the first stop of a cross - Canada tour to organnize support for the liberation of Hungary. General Veress, 72, said he is not attempting to organize a fighting army of exiles but an organization to give moral aid to enslaved Hungarians. —CP Photo.

HANDLE TROPHY-MOUNTED HEADS WITH CARE

ALWAYS USE CARE IN HANDLING MOUNTED TROPHY HEADS. NEVER GRASP THE EARS OR AROUND THE NECK TO LIFT WHEN REMOVING FROM THE WALL FOR CLEANING.

THE CORRECT WAY TO HANDLE A SMALL HEAD IS TO SUPPORT IT WITH ONE HAND UNDER THE BASE OF THE NECK AND BY GRASPING ONE HORN WITH THE OTHER HAND.

LARGE HORNS REQUIRE TWO PERSONS TO LIFT THEM: ONE GRASPS HORN AND UNDER NECK'S BASE AS HELPER HOLDS OTHER HORN AND NOSE TO ASSIST.
