What Should You Do In an Emergency?

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

It doesn't matter whether you are driving to the corner drug store or taking a long trip, there's always a chance you may be faced with an emergency.

Because feminine drivers often don't know what to do when an unusual situation arises, many panic. This isn't necessary, however, if you remember these few simple hints.

IF YOU HAVE A BLOW-OUT . . . Let your car coast to a stop. Don't brake hard. Move to the edge of the road.

IF YOUR BRAKES FAIL . . . Use the hand brake. Steer into the curb if necessary.

IF YOU GET OFF ON THE SHOULDER . . . Hold steering wheel firmly. Let the car slow down; then turn the wheels back onto the road.

IF YOU START TO SKID . . . Turn the wheels in the direction of the skid. Don't set your brakes.

IF YOU ARE CAUGHT BY A LIGHT CHANGE . . . At an intersection, continue at safe speed. Approaching an intersection, ston safely if you can. But don't slam on the brakes.
