New attire for ballet dancing?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Galina Ulanova, the prima ballerina of Russia's Bolshoi Ballet, did an impromptu pas de deux with a befuddled man in a baggy suit who wandered onto the stage by mistake.

The audience at Shrine Auditorium Saturday, expecting perhaps a temperamental outburst from the ballerina, held its breath as the man shuffled completely across the stage. However, Miss Ulanova merely smiled and continued to dance the prelude in Chopiniana.

The man explained later that he dropped backstage to visit a friend in the stage crew. He said he stepped onstage by mistake and was blinded by the footlights. He slipped out the stage door before he was identified.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Dale didn't like to go to two hearts on the first round of bidding in today's deal. Naturally, he likes to have more than two kings to respond at the two level. But with a part-score of 40 he couldn't even consider passing—and he didn't fancy a one no trump bid, holding a singleton spade.

There was at least a slight chance that Mr. Muzzy would have something in hearts and would let him play the hand. So he bid two hearts with a silent prayer that Mr. Muzzy would remember the part score.

Miss Brash pushed the bidding up as usual and Mr. Muzzy's three spade call won the auction.

Mr. Muzzy won the opening club in his hand with the ace. Now all he had to do was to count his winners. Barring the remote possibility that the adverse spades would break as badly as five in one opponent's hand and a singleton in the other, he could count six spade tricks, one club and two diamonds —nine tricks in all.

Miss Brash

But that isn't the way Mr. Muzzy operates. Without bothering to count at all he came to the somewhat baffling decision to lead a heart at trick two. He put in the nine from dummy and Miss Brash won with the jack and returned the queen of clubs. Where are Mr. Muzzy's six spade tricks now? If he ruffed with an honor, Mr. Abel's thrice-guarded nine spot would eventually win a trick.

He chose to ruff with the seven spot and Mr. Abel overruffed with the eight and led back the queen of diamonds.

Mr. Muzzy won with the ace in his own hand and now he drew trumps. He was just a little late. He led a heart, hoping Mr. Abel had the ace, in which case dummy's king of hearts—and possibly the entire heart suit—would be available for diamond discards.

The bidding:

3 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

But this was not to be. Mr. Abel played the eight, the ten went on from the board and Miss Brash won with the queen.

Eventually, Mr. Muzzy had to lose two diamond tricks for a one-trick set—and all because he failed to lead trumps early. Either he didn't count his nine winners at the start or he was consciously trying for extra tricks. In this situation, with game and rubber there for the taking, one is about as bad as the other.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court has knocked out a Louisiana ban on boxing matches between Negroes and whites. In a unanimous decision Monday, the court upheld a ruling by a district court in New Orleans that the ban is unconstitutional.

Christening held Sunday at Cathedral

The Sunday morning service at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral was the scene of a lovely christening ceremony when the three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Light received names Ronald Edward.

Rev. G. T. Pattison officiated.

Godparents are the baby's aunt Miss Patricia Studds of Vancouver and David Ridsdale of this city.

An afternoon tea was held at the home of the principal's parents on 1459 Atlin Avenue. Ronald Edward is a brother to Dennis Alan, 4, and William Lionel 2.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Light of White Rock, B.C., and maternal grandmother is Mrs. William Studds of Vancouver.

Jim Baxes sold to Cleveland

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Jim Baxes, 30-year-old rookie who balked when Los Angeles Dodgers tried to send him back to the minors, has been sold to Cleveland Indians.

Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi did not reveal the purchase price when he made the announcement today.

Baxes, who reached the majors this season 12 years after entering professional baseball, was hitting .303 when the Dodgers optioned him to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League to meet the May 10 cutdown deadline.

ARRESTS IN TURKEY

BERLIN (Reuters)—A spokesman for the International Press Institute disclosed Monday that 800 journalists have been arrested in Turkey during the last four or five years. The institute is consiering whether to let representatives of the Turkish press retain membership in the institute, he added, because there are "grave infringements of press freedom in Turkey."

May leave CLC

MONTREAL (CP) — Hal Banks, international vice-president of the Seafarers' International Union, said Monday his organization may withdraw from the Canadian Labor Congress unless present difficulties with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and Other Workers can be settled.
