DULUTH MOB RULED TODAY

Duluth, Sept. 14.—The city is in the hands of a mob numbering 5,000 persons, composed of the street car strikers and their friends. The car service tonight is suspended owing to the violence of the mob, who armed with missiles, attacked and destroyed several cars, injuring the crews who were operating them. The police are powerless to prevnt wholesale wrecking of property and an appeal for troops has been sent out to the governor. The mob threatened to fire the car barns. A few arrests were made.

MORE SEA TREASURE SOUGHT

Ellensburg, Sept. 14—Joe Morrell, the sole remaining survivor of the ship Golden Gate which was burned and sank off Manzanillo, Mexico, in 180[illegible], with over $2,000,000 in California gold on board, today received a letter from a San Francisco syndicate, asking for details of the wreck and bearings of the spot where the ship sank. Money will be raised to raise the wreck if it is located.

THE ICELANDER'S SONG.

This sheltered beach within the headlands bold,
Inured to fog and snow with piercing cold,
Calls me to watch and work in varying mood,
O, marvel tidal flow of welcome wood,
The briny spray swings round the rockbound shore,
Anon the giant waves with thunder roar,
Striking the strong land with majestic might,
Retiring soon in foam so sparkling white.
What ample harvest may be compared with mine—
Harvest gathered from the pelting brine?
Tumbling, chafing, travelling from afar;
Urging its way toward the polar star.
How far they travel from the hill and grove,
The home of humming bird and turtle dove,
The gentle breezes waft the sound and song
From winged choristers in glorious throng.
O, stream beneficent that knows no rest,
Floating the pine trees on its ample breast,
Northward bound in constant steady flow,
Making for icebound lands in storms and snow.
O, tide of driftwood urged from many an isle,
Where summer days in endless beauty smile.
What tides of joy my grateful heart inspire!
They help me sing beside my driftwood fire.

KEEP OUT THE FIGHTING SUFFRAGETTE

Ottawa, Sept. 13—Is the militant suffragette an undesirable citizen within the meaning of the law, and the suggestion that war like suffragettes from England may be barred out of Canada under terms of regulation regarding undesirables has been made to the Department of the Interior and the belief prevails that the regulations would apply. The suggestion has special reference to the threatened invasion of militant leaders from across the sea and the fact that sundry of these women have served prison terms and their mission is the introduction of law breaking methods into Canada. This also would, it is urged, be sufficient to justify their exclusion. Action along these lines will be taken should any invasion of Canada be undertaken.

NO STREET LIGHTS IN TERRACE

The town of Terrace is tickled to death over the adventure there the other night of a lady and child, who, leaving a neighbor's house with a lantern in the darkness and a rainstorm, were met a mile from home by a gust of wind. The light went out. The lady lost her way, and for hours wandered in the bush.

Just as she was settling down, hopeless, for the night, cuddling the child in her care for shelter against the rain, a search party of nearly the whole town of Terrace found and rescued her.

FUR TURBANS FOR TREATRE WEAR

Fur concocted into round hats for wear in the evening is one of the fashions of the coming winter. There are few faces that are not softened and made prettier by a setting of fur, whether it is about the throat or on the hat.

Every sort of animal gives up his skin for feminine head dresses. Lynx, ermine, mink, martin, seal and brown tail are the furs that adapt themselves most gracefully to a draped net frame.

A beautiful turban of ermine has a double crown which is formed of white pleated maline and covered with shadow lace. The brim is of ermine and a band of it surrounds the crown. Poised at the left side is a group of short white ostrich plumes out of which comes a large pink rose.

A tall uncurled violet ostrich plume is the only trimming of a sealskin turban. The dark brown of the fur sets off the violet hues of the feather. This is placed at the left back side of the hat and towers above the round crown.

The soft grey pelt of the Australian possum forms an attractive turban. The only trimming is a large ornament of silver braid and amethyst beads.

PIONEER LEGAL FIRM REMOVES

Messrs. Fisher & Warton, one of the pioneer law firms of Prince Rupert, who have so long held the fort in the little frame building on the bluff at the corner of Second avenue and Third street, have finally had to give in before the steady advance of Prince Rupert's upgrowth. The little shack is on the point of vanishing, the firm having removed into splendid new offices in the Smith block on the corner of Third avenue and Fourth street.
