DOLL OPERA COMPANY COMING TO WESTHOLME

le Doris Canfield of the Juvenile Bostonians Carries 42 Dolls With Her on Her Travels, and Sometimes Gives a "Performance" for the Pleasure of the Other Children of the certain little lady, by no means an insignificant member of the Juvenile Bostonians, who appear here tonight in the Westholme Opera House, is a lover of dolls. In fact, dolls are a craze with her and she takes it to a point that she refuses to travel or play unless her dolls are included in the contract. It is how it happens that Doris Canfield has two trunks, the "Juveniles" have only one. One of these trunks is armed with large trays, each divided into little beds. Each bed is the "home" of one of Doris' dolls, but in Doris' case the dolls are inseparable and most of the children of the Juvenile Bostonians are happy with one course dolls and little girls usually inseparable and most of the children of the Juvenile Bostonians are happy with one the trunk is opened first of all at every stopping place, then the trays are taken out, the little soft cotton coverlets that help to protect the occupants of the doll trunk in their respective beds are removed and all the dolls "see" the light of day and "breathe" the fresh air. Doris would be heart broken if anything happened to delay this proceeding, and some times when a quick rush from the train to the theatre is necessary to give a performance it is notice-dolls, but in Doris' case different. With a most beautiful smile she says: "I would get lonesome, I would get tired of each and every one, and maybe quarrel, and I would be unequal, so as I have to have more I must speak in whispers for it might be time for the dolls' naps. Think of what might happen if all those dolls would wake up at once and begin to cry."

The big time comes when the company stays in a town for a week or more. Then Doris' room is so filled with dolls that it is hard to find a place for Doris to sleep. And if any one calls they must speak in whispers for it might be time for the dolls' naps. Think of what might happen if all those dolls would wake up at once and begin to cry."

Her Father's Answer

"What did her father say when you asked for her hand?" "Said he'd been wondering what I had been passing him two-for-a-quarter cigars for so regularly of late."—Detroit Free Press.

THE HERMIT
gentle hermit of the forest, "why have you dwelt here all alone? I have dwelt here all alone, and all that culture means to you must seek the hermit and fill yourself with the sad eyed hermit deftly threw his whiskers over his arm, and heaved a sigh and took a chew, and viewed with some alarm. "I follow well considered plans, by living in this wood; for here there are no also rans, no statesmen great and good, I list all day to singing birds, and hear the bobcat's yowl; here no one fills the air with words, no wild, spellbinders howl. There are no issues to confuse, no pledges to redeem; a man just sits around and chews, and life's a pleasant dream. There are no tiresome windy dubs, to talk of 'poopul's right'; there are no Ananias Clubs, no crazed convention fights. No selfish statesmen paw the air, for 'principles' they yap—for principles, and all they care is just to reach the top. Your politics is such a fake, so I'll remain, in fen and brake, with 'possum, owl and skunk.' Thus spake the hermit, and he lit a stogie moldy-blue. "You're wise," I said, "if you'll permit, I'll just stay here with you."

CHURCHILL'S BRITISH NAVY PROGRAMME

An immediate supplementary estimate of $5,000,000. The old building program of three ships in 1913, four ships in 1914, three ships in 1915, four ships in 1916, three ships in 1917, to be altered to five ships in 1913 and four in each succeeding year.

The number of battleships in full commission to be raised from 28 to 33 by 1914. This will give Britain 33 battleships against Germany's 29 in full commission, which is regarded as an adequate margin for 1914-15.

Four battleships at Gibraltar to be raised to eight.

Six old battleships at Malta to be replaced by four modern cruisers of the Invincible type.

Personnel of fleet to be increased and a higher rate of pay to be proposed.

Submarines and other auxiliary forces to be augmented in strength.

HINTS

Boil vinegar in the fish kettle or pan to destroy the fish odor.

New clothespins should be boiled before being used and should frequently be washed.

Decorated china plates should be put away with round pieces of cotton flannel between them.

Rubbing spirits of camphor on the lips morning and evening will give relief from cold sores.

Porcelain-lined sinks and tubs can be cleaned by rubbing with a flannel wet with kerosene.

Hot chocolate, unsweetened wafers and crystallized prunes form a dainty course for luncheon or supper.

To enrich the coloring, it is advisable sometimes to brown the flour before making a spice or fruit cake.

Always line a cake pan with medium-weight yellow paper. Grease the paper, not the pan, except the edges.

Comforts and quilts should be dried in a good stiff breeze so that they may be as light and fluffy as when new.

It is a good plan to have individual markings for bath towels. The initials may be embroidered in chain stitch.

Suede shoes that have become worn and shiny may be freshened by rubbing them lightly with emery paper.

Greasing pie tins with butter instead of lard helps to brown the under crust and prevents the pie being soggy.

An improved pie plan has a blade fastened to the centre, which revolves around the bottom of the pan, beneath the pie crust, when the end protruding from the side of the dish is moved.

If leather in chair seats sticks to the clothing, sponge with a mixture of ether and alcohol, dampening the cloth lightly, and following it by wiping off with a clean flannel dampened with pure chloroform.

Jerusalem artichokes peeled and left in cold water to keep them from discoloring, and then sliced thin with a silver knife and served on lettuce leaves with a French dressing, make a delicious dinner salad.

It is becoming more and more the fashion to serve fruit salads with game. These should be tossed in a French vinaigrette dressing of oil and vinegar, seasoned with salt and freshly ground black pepper.

When books become badly soiled on the edges, if not gilt edged, close the book tightly and erase the marks with an ink eraser. This will cut off all the rough edges, all soiled marks and leave the book quite clean.

"And did you stay long in Venice?"

"Only two days, but I saw everything there was to see don't ye know."

"Really! Then you'd see the Lion of St. Mark's, I suppose?" "Rather; saw the brute fed, in fact,"—Punch.

FORT GEORGE

Fort George is situated midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, being at the junction of the two great waterways in B. C.

FORT GEORGE will be the Hub of British Columbia, because the railways have to follow the rivers for a natural grade. FORT GEORGE will be a great distributing centre, like Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg, because all the grain of the prairies will come through there on its way to the coast.

FORT GEORGE will have miles and miles of trackage facilities, also elevators, flour mills, breweries, etc.

Fort George has a good climate and is a good mixed farming country.

FORT GEORGE district and Cariboo district are rich in minerals.

FORT GEORGE will be connected by train with Edmonton by next spring. Lots in Fort George are selling fast and advancing in price; take advantage of this disappearing opportunity and call at once at.
