Palmer wins second Masters, gains $17,500

AUGUSTA, Ga. (CP) — Arnold Palmer, the big belter from Pennsylvania, led after each round of the Masters tournament but with the chips down Sunday he had to win it the hard way.

Aiming for his second Masters title, Palmer needed birdies on each of the last two holes to leave Ken Venturi and Dow Finsterwald behind in the dust.

He got them.

His birdie-birdie finish enabled the 29-year-old professional to post a chart of 67-73-72-70-282 and pick up a record cheque of $17,500.

Venturi and Finsterwald, had 283 and 284 respectively.

Canada's Stan Leonard had 290 and ended in a tie for ninth with Lionel Hebert.

The Vancouver pro said he was "a little disappointed" although he had a cheque for $1,575 to pack with him to North Carolina where he'll play in the Greensboro Open.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

Tokyo (AP)—Koji Ishibashi, 117½ Japan outpointed Kozo Nagata, 118, Japan, (10.)

it's a FACT

Fishing is probably the oldest occupation in the world. From ancient times, men have taken products of the earth's waters for use for food, clothing, household articles, and ornaments. Yet this world's oldest industry is now one of the smallest, employing fewer than 200,000 persons. About 55 billion pounds of fish are consumed each year.

Young doctor named best man for royal rites

LONDON (CP)—A young doctor Saturday was named as best man at the wedding of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones.

He is Dr. Roger William Gilliatt, only son of the late Sir William Gilliatt who was formerly gynecologist to the Queen.

Gilliatt has known the bridegroom for five or six years and met Princess Margaret recently.

He is a consultant neurologist at the National Hospital for Nervous Diseases and has a private practice in Harley Street, famed centre of British medicine.

He will be the replacement for Geremy Fry, who announced Wednesday that he was stepping down on his doctor's orders.

His physician, Dr. H. Gordon Neill, said Friday that Fry, a long-time friend of Armstrong-Jones, was "rather worse" with jaundice.

OTTAWA (CP)— Peter Akroyd, information director of the National Capital Commission, says he expects larger numbers of visitors in Ottawa this year. He bases his opinion on the interest shown during a tuor he made of Northern Ontario centres, including North Bay, Sudbury ttc.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Failing to play the people as well as the cards can cost you in a thousand different ways. In today's deal Mr. Heinsite jumped to four spades over the one diamond opening bid in a good effort to prevent his opponents from landing in their best spot.

He was successful beyond his wildest dreams, but then he proceeded to blow the whole thing for a loss of almost 2000 points.

Pre-emptive bids are usually successful against Miss Brash—not because they shut her out, but because they goad her into bidding too much.

She doubled the four spade call and then, after her partner went to five diamonds, made the completely unjustified bid of six no trump.

Miss Brash

Mr. Heinsite sat there with two perfectly good aces and since he had bid spades strongly he felt sure of a spade opening from Mr. Muzzy.

But he couldn't leave well enough alone. He doubled. And that set Mr. Muzzy to thinking—a development which brought disaster to the defenders' cause.

What does the double of a slam bid mean? Mr. Muzzy doesn't know all about that subject, but he knows a little.

He remembered vaguely that the doubler is asking his partner not to make his normal opening lead—the normal lead in this case being a spade. He also remembered that the doubler is suggesting a lead through the first suit bid by dummy.

So out came the six of diamonds—and Mr. Heinsite closed his eyes in bitter resignation.

Miss Brash cashed seven rounds of diamonds, getting everybody down to six cards. In her own hand she kept her four original clubs and the two major suit kings. Mr. Heinsite got down to four clubs and two aces.

When the eighth and last diamond was led from the board, Mr. Heinsite was a goner. Suffering mightily, he finally parted with a club and no other discard would have been any better.

Miss Brash then discarded the king of spades. Next she cashed the ace of clubs, led a low club and finessed the jack. Her king and eight of clubs took two more tricks, giving her 12 in all.

Mr. Heinsite had no reason to complain. He did, of course, but without justification.

It's true, as he says, that a little learning is a dangerous thing, but that applies not only to the technicalities of bidding and play but also to the humanics of the game.

Mr. Muzzy always opens his partner's bid suit—even when he shouldn't. Undoubtedly he would have led a spade here if Mr. Heinsite hadn't doubled.

Mr. Heinsite knows this. Therefore, he is the one who flubbed it, and all for the chance of gaining a measly 100 points.
