THE RASPBERRY CROP IS GOOD AROUND RUPERT

Whether red raspberries yield 2,000 quarts per acre, as they do on the farm of Mr. B. H. Lee, near Berwick, N. S., there is undoubtedly profit in the crop as prices have been during the past few years. Mr. Lee recently disposed of a 3,000-quart crop, grown on an acre and a half, for ten cents net. As berry growing has only been a side line with him, he has not given close attention to the cost of production, but he states that about three cents should pay for picking and marketing. Mr. Lee has never done any heavy fertilizing, preferring to follow the rule of commercial fertilizers one year and stable manure the next, each applied lightly. A red raspberry patch is good for eight or ten years, possibly longer, and constant cultivation takes out the humus, hence the necessity for replenishing the soil with plant food.

How to Grow Rasp.

In preparing the ground for planting he aims to have it in as good condition as for grain or potatoes. The rows should be placed far enough apart to allow a one-horse harrow to go through, and the plants set as close in the rows as possible. The closeness of planting is largely decided by the cost of the plants. The more plants set the sooner you get a full crop. When hoeing time comes, which should be quite often in dry weather, a very small handful of nitrate of soda worked into the soil around each plant, about twice in the season is sufficient for the first year. Mr. Lee prefers to plant them before the growth starts in the spring, but says that no doubt fall planting would be equally satisfactory. If the land is in good condition, and the plants are far enough apart in the row, some crop, like potatoes or beans, may be grown between the raspberry rows. Mr. Lee does not advise planting them in a young orchard unless the ground is moist and well fertilized.

Use Nitrate of Soda.

The weeds and grass should not be allowed to get a hold at all. The rows should be kept level, and between the rows cultivated lightly, but thoroughly, as the feeding roots are quite near the surface. Bone meal and stable manure are good fertilizers, and about 300 pounds of nitrate of soda applied when the berries are nicely set will give them a good lift. Any fertilizers which are good for orchards are good for raspberries. However, Mr. Lee considers the nitrate of soda very important. With this careful treatment he says that in the second year you will get a few berries, and about the third or fourth year, owing to the growth and increase in the number of the canes, a full crop may be expected.

LOCAL TALENT TO PRODUCE A FINE NEW SHOW

While the juvenile professional company of clever artists is delighting Prince Rupert audiences local talent is not idle, for under the capable direction of Mrs. Chisholm, rehearsals and studies are being conducted for the production of a bright new local show entitled "Our Boys." The show will be staged in about a month, and will be up to the well-known standards of its producers.

FORT GEORGE

Fort George is situated midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, being at the junction of the two great waterways in B. C. FORT GEORGE will be the Hub of British Columbia, because the railways have to follow the rivers for a natural grade. FORT GEORGE will be a great distributing centre, like Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg, because all the grain of the prairies will come through there on its way to the coast. FORT GEORGE will have miles and miles of trucking facilities, also elevators, flour mills, breweries, etc. FORT GEORGE has a good climate and is a good mixed farming country. FORT GEORGE district and Cariboo district are rich in minerals. FORT GEORGE will be connected by train with Edmonton by next spring. Lots in Fort George are selling fast and advancing in price; take advantage of this disappearing opportunity and call at once at.

KEEP OUT!

"KEEP OUT!" used to hang as a sign on every factory door. The old idea of secrecy in business made it seem a crime to show outsiders processes, materials, and methods of manufacture.

Now the white light of publicity is being let in by those who depend on public favor for business profits and business growth. The "keep out" sign is disappearing from factory doors and the "welcome" sign is taking its place.

Candor and honesty form the backbone of modern Advertising. Men tell the truth, and it pays. Modern selling relies more and more on the confidence and good will of the buyer.

To-day, eyes are too sharp and intelligences too keen to make deceit possible. Absolute frankness in Advertising is the straight road to confidence. The public demands the light; it abominates and fears darkness.

To-day, many canning factories, packing houses, bakeries, and public kitchens welcome visitors. concealing nothing.

The public may overlook, but does not forgive, a lie or an abuse of its confidence. The public regards with suspicion those who attempt to serve it in secrecy and silence. The public is repelled by juggled facts or befogging words. The public rewards with its favor and money those who tell it the truth. It walks and shops where the light shines and where the paths are straight.

Throw on the light!
