Queen, Prince Philip catch several trout at isolated lake

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have spent a weekend fishing and sunning in a relaxed and informal atmosphere at their Rocky Mountain hideaway on Pennask Lake.

Aides said Sunday night they are enjoying "immensely" their first vacation since their 44-day Canadian tour began 25 days ago.

Sunday the royal couple attended an informal church service, then spent four hours on the isolated lake fishing.

A dispatch from press officer Esmond Butler said each caught several rainbow trout up to a weight of one pound.

The vacation continues today, ending at noon Tuesday when the Queen and her husband board the royal train here and leave on a whistle-stopping tour to Vancouver.

Saturday, before leaving Kamloops on the 33-minute flight to Pennask, the Queen and Prince Philip spent more than an hour in Vernon and about the same time in Kamloops. More than 30,000 persons turned out in the two centres to see them.

Almost imperceptibly, the whole mood of the Royal Tour changed last week.

Now the accent is on informality, easy goingness, relaxation. There will still be some stylized events but they will fewer.

Strict silence is observed during the tour of inspection but judging from the stares of the imprisoned dogs Kitty had better stay on her side of the fence. —CP photo.

BIG FISH TAGGING PROGRAM TO BE LAUNCHED ON COAST

VANCOUVER (CP)—The largest salmon tagging program ever attempted in the Pacific will start July 15 and continue until September 30.

The federal department of fisheries announced here the program, covering pink salmon only, is being conducted by the fisheries research board of Canada, the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission and the Washington State department of fisheries.

It is to determine the migratory movements of pinks on their way to spawning streams in southern British Columbia and Puget Sound area of Washington State.

Canada will tag up to 25,000 pinks in the Upper Johnstone Straits area, the commission up to 30,000 in the border areas around Salmon Bank, West Beach and Point Roberts and the state of Washington up to 2,000 in the Admiralty Inlet area.

The investigation was agreed upon in the Pink Salmon Protocol Agreement between the United States and Canada.

Harry Belafonte says he almost quit films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A series of disappointing films almost caused Harry Belafonte to give up his movie career, the singer-actor discloses.

The Negro star is a perfectionist, as sellout crowds at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles attest nightly. He is also a young man who thinks seriously about his race. For these reasons, he has been unhappy with his films thus far.

He publicly lambasted "Island in the Sun" as a bad picture, much to the dismay of 20th Century-Fox. Now it's time for MGM to cringe. He has sharp words about his current release, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil."

"It's not a bad picture," he allowed, "But the tragedy is that it could have been a great picture. Everyone who sees it agrees that the first part, showing the holocaust caused by an atomic explosion had terrific quality."

Then, as many critics pointed out, the movie fell apart. Belafonte believes it was because the script failed to resolve the issue of a romance between himself and Inger Stevens.

"I said from the first that I didn't care whether I got the girl in the picture," he said. "The only thing I wanted was to have the issue resolved, and resolved honestly. I was assured that it would be. But during the filming, I spent arduous week after week hoping that the script would be fixed to match the original, exciting conception. It never was."

So great was his disappointment that he contemplated giving up films.

"I have never reached in movies the quality of performance and reaction that I got in concerts and other in-person shows," he said. "I began to think that perhaps I should stick to live performing, where I had control over what I was doing."

Instead of quitting, he went into production with his own company. He recently filmed "Odds Against Tomorrow" with himself, Robert Ryan, Shelley Winters, Gloria Grahame and Ed Pegley. He feels that in the crime story he achieves what he had hoped for on the screen for the first time.

Belafonte admitted that it isn't easy to find good stories for Negro stars.

"Let's face it: There are only two Negro stars who mean anything at the box office—myself and Sidney Poitier," he said. "If a writer does a story about a Negro and strikes out on both of us, he's dead."

But there should be a vast field of dramatic stories for Negroes, he added, and not merely concerning the race issue. He cited a number of historical subjects, plus the fact that Negroes now figure in many more walks of life than they did a decade or two ago. His own ambition is to do a sophisticated comedy, and he has one by S. J. Perleman under consideration.
