BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Champion shuddered slightly when Mr. Muzzy went to four spades in today's hand. He thought briefly about bidding clubs again but passed up the idea on the theory that it would only serve to elicit a five spade bid from across the table.

The opening lead was the king of hearts and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace and promptly ruffed a small heart with dummy's lone trump. Checking up (too late, as usual) he saw that he still had two heart losers, a diamond loser and a trump loser.

If he let the defenders in now with the ace of trumps, they would surely cash their suit winners, so he tried to get rid of a heart on dummy's clubs.

Mr. Muzzy

It is difficult to see how he expected to accomplish this since, with only five clubs outstanding, one opponent had a doubleton at the most. The play could gain a trick only if the opponent with the shorter club holding had no trumps or the lone ace of trumps.

Anyway, at trick three he led dummy's ace of clubs. He followed with the king and Mrs. Keen ruffed low and cashed two quick hearts and the ace of diamonds. The ace of trumps made it a two-trick set.

Mr. Champion hit the ceiling. "Muzzy, why do you always have to win the first trick?" he stormed. "All you had to do was to win ten tricks. Any ten. You could give up the first three tricks or the last three or any three in between as long as you ended up with a total of ten."

"I can't make the hand with you having only one trump," replied Mr. Muzzy hotly.

"Want to bet?" said Mr. Champion. "With a club suit like I had, you don't need trumps too. Why not just give them the first heart trick? Then there's nothing they can lead that will beat you."

Mr. Champion was right. Suppose Mrs. Keen was permitted to win the first trick. Now if she led another heart, it could be ruffed on the board. Mr. Muzzy could then lead a diamond from dummy and Mrs. Keen would win with the ace.

She would have no better return that another heart and Mr. Muzzy could win this with the ace.

Now he could enter dummy with a club, pitch his last heart on the queen of diamonds and return to his hand by ruffing a diamond. He could then drive out the ace of trumps and just barely outlast Mrs. Keen in the trump department to rack up ten tricks.

Five held for trying to control champion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five men seized in a coast-to-coast FBI roundup are accused of trying to grab control of Don Jordan, world welterweight boxing champion.

A federal grand jury investigating underworld influence in boxing indicted them Tuesday in Los Angeles. They were arrested within a few hours at Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The indictments charged conspiracy to extort money from Jordan's manager, Don Nesseth of Covina, Calif., and Jackie Leonard, former Hollywood Legion Stadium boxing promoter.

Under arrest are:

Paul John Carbo, known as Frankie Carbo, 55, of New York City. He is under indictment in New York for undercover management of fighters.

Frank Blinky Palermo, 54, Philadelphia boxing manager.

PROMOTER NAMED

Truman Gibson, Jr., 47, Chicago — president of National Boxing Enterprises Inc., and formerly a director of the International Boxing Club.

Joseph Sica, 48, Los Angeles, who has a record of arrests going back to 1928.

Louis Tom Dragna, 39, West Covina, Calif., manager of a clothing store and described as having been involved in bookmaking.

The indictment alleged that Palermo extorted $1,725 from Leonard through threats of harming him and Nesseth.

Leonard had no interest in Jordan's management but said Palermo and Carbo made him an unwilling go-between in their purported effort to muscle in on Nesseth's contract with Jordan.

The testimony of Leonard and Nesseth before a California Athletic Commission hearing last May set off the investigation of gangster influence in boxing.
