CROWDED AREA
The small British crown colony of Hong Kong in June, 1961, had a population of 3,100,000.

Competion said lacking

OTTAWA (C)— The Canadian Association of Consumers said today retail pharmacists must shoulder a "share of the responsibility for the present high prices of drugs."

In a submission to the restrictive trade practices commission, the association said druggists are strongly opposed to price competition at the retail level. Most druggists accepted manufacturers' list prices as the selling prices.

This policy denied to the consumer the protection of price competition.

The commission today opened a public inquiry under the Combines Investigation Act into the manufacture, distribution and sale of drugs.

HAVE MONOPOLY

The association brief, presented by Mrs. A. F. W. Plumptre of Ottawa, national president, said manufacturers have complete monopoly of the sale of their patented products and are charging "exorbitant" prices.

Canadian patent legislation was being used to "protect the profits of the manufacturer at the expense of the consumer."

"Monopolistic control" of the drug industry must be broken.

The association said it would like to see more interest by the medical profession in the prices patients have to pay for prescriptions. In some cases, patients could not afford and did not buy the drugs prescribed.

"Acceptance of the quality of drugs imported from countries other than the United States and their use by the medical profession would, we suggest, lead eventually to common use of generic terms."

Drugs should be prescribed by generic instead of brand names "except in cases where brand names would ensure the use of special compounds made by particular firms."

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♣

It is not always easy to place one's self in the position of the person who is required to make a quick decision under fire. The reader, with all hands in view, is not so much inclined to applaud the schemer as he is to look upon the victim as a "sap." Take the case of West in today's hand for example.

His strategy throughout the auction was unimpeachable. The bidding developed in a manner far beyond West's wildest dreams and the double of four hearts was made with visions of a comfortable old age. One false step, however, deprived him of the fruits of his well laid plot.

The king of clubs was opened and won by the ace. A low club was ruffed by declarer, who was convinced that West held two trump tricks as well as the ace-queen of spades. He saw a chance to make the hand if he could induce the doubler to pass one lead of trumps. He therefore led a low heart toward the eight in dummy. West could not see any danger in ducking since he still held two sure trump tricks. Whether or not he should have done so is another matter.

When the eight held, declarer ruffed another club, laid down the ace of hearts, and then led a diamond to the queen. The ace and king of diamonds were cashed next and the last club was ruffed, leaving West with nothing but two high trumps and the ace-queen of spades.

He was given the lead with a trump and forced to lead from the ace of spades, setting up South's king. The possession of that low heart at this point would have permitted West to use it as an exit card and wait for declarer to lead spades.

Banff competing

OSLO (AP)—Banff is Oslo's chief competitor in bidding for the winter Olympic Games of 1968, Norway's representative on the International Olympic Committee, O. Ditlev - Simonsen, Jr., said today.

"The final choice between Oslo and Banff," he told Norwegian sports officials, "will be made at the IOC congress in Moscow next year."
