OLD HABIT

LONDON (CP)—Laughter broke out in the House of Lords when the Lord Chief Justice couldn't break an old habit. He started off a speech with the words: "Members of the jury."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	5 ♣	5 ♠	Pass
Pass	6 ♣	Pass	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

Today's hand provided a bit of excitement when it came up in a recent tournament. Altho the West players found themselves possessors of a nine card club suit, the best result any of them could attain was to take a 500 point sacrifice against the North-South slam.

In the West seat every player overcalled South's one spade opening with a preemptive bid of five clubs. North raised freely to five spades and South was forced to pass inasmuch as partner's bid was made under considerable pressure.

The freak distribution inspired most Wests to persist to six clubs and at this point North made an enlightening call—a forcing pass. This requests partner to either double the opponents or else go on to six. He felt that there was an excellent prospect for slam if South held three aces, and that with only two aces South would be forced to double.

At the table where the diagrammed bidding took place, South carried on to six spades and West elected to defend.

West opened the king of clubs and shifted to the seven of diamonds. Declarer won the trick with the dummy's king. Trumps were extracted in two rounds and it seemed like smooth sailing since there seemed little doubt that a long heart could establish itself for the discard of a diamond. But the lead of the king of hearts showed that a long card in that suit could not be developed.

South saw that a squeeze would be required to fulfill the contract inasmuch as East obviously had the burden of protecting both red suits. Declarer therefore cashed the ace of diamonds, and ran out all his trumps, coming down to the ace and one heart and the nine of diamonds, while the dummy held queen and two small hearts.

East, forced to reduce to three cards, had his choice of letting go the high diamond or unguarding his protection in hearts.

The maximum North-South result was achieved at a table where declarer took all the tricks. West elected to underlead his ace-king-queen of clubs in the hope that East held the jack and could then give him a heart ruff. South won the trick and proceeded to execute the same squeeze on his opponent.
