GAMBLING SENSATION IN FRENCH RACING

PARIS, July 21.—So notorious have turf scandals become this season, and the gambling fever is so great, that the government is pushing bills through the Chamber of Deputies to clear up the racing situation, and curb crooked gambling. Although betting is illegal in France except by pari-mutuels, outlaw bookmaking is general and about ten million francs are bet through bookmakers every racing day, resulting in a loss to the treasury of France of a million francs daily, on the ten per cent pari-mutuel commission.

Maurice de Rothschild, owner of a big racing stable, has made the charge in the chamber that jockeys, in the pay of crooked bookmakers, having systematically pulled horses to throw racing against the favorites. In this way, the public is being cheated out of millions of francs. Rothschild further charges that a big syndicate of crooked gamblers has bought over a group of jockeys who are manipulating the races to order. One jockey has confessed to throwing races which netted the ring many millions of francs.

One government bill provides long prison terms for interference with races. Another penalizes anyone making books but the latter will be difficult to enforce as all French clubs have secret arrangements for handling bets. Paris wineshop keepers, barbers, newsmen and hotel employees are making strong public opposition to the government's restrictive plans. Gambling fever has been very high since the armistice.

JOE FALLON FINED

In the police court this morning Jas Fallon was fined $50 or sixty days in default of payment, on a charge of obstructing people on the sidewalk and using bad language in a public place. The magistrate gave hi ma very serious reprimanding and explained that this offense was his first or otherwise he might have given him six months according to the law. An example had to be made of a few of the men standing loafing on the corners of the business section of the city. It might impress a few of them that such conduct could not continue.

Among those arriving in the city yesterday were Miss L. Smith of Victoria and Mrs. R. Moran of Green Island.

ORIENTAL PLAY AT WESTHOLME TONIGHT

Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen in Love Story of Sahara Wastes.

The great star of both the movies and the legitimate stage, Geraldine Farrar, appears tonight at the Westholme Theatre in the gorgeous production "Flame of the Desert," a picture of the Far East and the Sahara Desert. With Miss Farrar also appears Lou Tellegen, making the film a doubly attractive.

The picture is, essentially, Oriental in character and Oriental things being all the rage these days it is expected it will prove most entertaining. The wooing of an American woman of superb beauty by a powerful Arabian chief in the wastes of the Sahara Desert is, indeed, picturesque and the play is one of pictorial magnificence as well as intense emotional acting.

Sport Briefs

When will the time come for more rigid rules being enforced in regard to the language used at the football games both by the players and spectators? On Monday evening it was more than disgusting for many sitting on the bench to hear the vile tongue work going on. Many ladies have justly laid complaints to members of the football league, but it is a matter with the men themselves. The referees have been instructed and on Monday evening Mr. McCulloch was quick to check up any foul language from the players when he was near at hand, but referees cannot be all over the field at the same time and especially not over the side lines. If men cannot go to see sports without giving vent to their feelings in swearing, measures will have to be taken to preserve peace during the matches.

• • •

To single out players from a team such as the Trail fielded in Monday evening's football game, is rather a difficult matter, but certainly Vic Menzie and "Warry" Anderson played splendid football. On the half-line Warry was playing in fine form and easily guarded the left wing of the railroaders' forward line. At right back Vic put up a stalwart defence and it was no fault of his if the ball rolled towards the Trail goal. Neither was he afraid to mix things and generally got the leather away in plenty of time.

• • •

The regular intermediate baseball league game scheduled for this evening between the Red Sox and the Beavers has been postponed until tomorrow night. After last night's strenuous tussle for the Beavers the officials of the league thought it well to give the players a little time to recover.

• • •

Many fans attended last evening's game at the Acropolis Hill grounds between the Beavers and the Colts and the rooting was continued loud and long. In spite of the many supporters the Beavers were unable to turn the trick in spite of their splendid effort of the first of the sixth.

• • •

The next football game is scheduled for Friday evening when the Trail Club and the Callies meet for honors. After the brilliant game put up by the former against the Grand Trunk aggregation the outcome of the next struggle is being watched with considerable interest.

• • •

It is rather disconcerting for tourists arriving here with their golf bags over their shoulders, for a smile seems to spread over the faces of the local people as they pass by. Like many other things, Rupert will have a golf course some day but at the present time it appears rather ridiculous to see men and women coming here all ready to go round the holes.
