MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of all Nerve Remedies

Fruit Medicine Restores Health

The increase in the number of those suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the strain following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Heart Action, are the results of disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the liver, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus giving the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness say that because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this medicine is simply marvellous in its effects.

Edmonton Speech of W. L. Mackenzie King on Great Issues of the Campaign

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, was given a memorable and magnificent reception at two great meetings in Edmonton. Three thousand people crowded the Metropolitan Theatre and the West Edmonton Liberal rooms to suffocation to hear him, and hundreds found it impossible to get inside the halls and were forced to turn away in disappointment.

A Well Defined Policy.

In his magnificent address Hon. Mr. King showed decisively that he is a leader with a well-defined and progressive national policy, based on one great and unyielding principle of Liberalism that the people and not vested interests shall rule over the nation. In this connection he showed with measured but merciless eloquence that in no particular had he forgotten the transgressions of the Conservative government now under the guidance of Hon. Mr. Meighen, on these well established democratic principles wherein parliament was denied the right to inquire into the expenditure of large sums of public money, and special interests, not daring to raise their heads publicly, were able to control government for their own financial advancement.

Meighen's Record.

Scoring with facts and figures the method of the Meighen government in withholding information of public expenditure from the people's representatives in parliament, Hon. Mr. King referred to the closure being brought into affect for the purpose of preventing the Liberals from probing additions to the public debt of over $70,000,000, which was voted inside of two hours. Nor had any act of parliament created the merchant marine of Canada, the sum of $7,000,000 being voted after a closure had prevented the Liberals from opposing the measure. No other prime minister of the Empire would have carried on such high-handed injustice to members of parliament.

Never Consulted.

The people of Canada were never consulted regarding the purchase of the Canadian National railway systems, which added over 20,000 miles of railway to the publicly owned system, or the largest enterprise of its kind in the world. The people never had a voice in the transaction and in spite of every protest the Liberals were refused the right to see the agreement of the Grand Trunk Pacific deal, though solicitors of the government took up the matters with the bondholders in London and information of the negotiations came from England to the representatives of the people at Ottawa.

Moreover the railway board was given full power to carry on the entire system of railway management, but the elected members were refused any details as to the vast public expenditure involved. Even the most innocent questions were flatly rejected by the government and eventually the King-Fielding motion to have railway expenditures in the same category as all other public debts was turned down by the government majority.

Insurance Placing.

Needless to say Mr. King sprang a sensation when he charged that insurance to the extent of $140,000,000 had been placed on the Canadian National system, of which $107,000,000 was placed in one company of which two directors were also directors of the Canadian National. Contracts for equipment on the railway were also let through the same system of interlocking directorates. "The government of Canada has been in the hands of political autocrats and financial plutocrats who have been amassing great profits, while the great mass of the people have had to suffer in consequence," declared the speaker amidst applause.

Economy and Retrenchment.

"We must get back to open dealing and economy in our national affairs," went on Mr. King. "Economy and retrenchment are most vitally necessary in our government today. The government at Ottawa has got the habit of thinking in millions and billions, and the need is for an administration that can also take account of the thousands. Almost everyone is puzzled over the problems of national finance these days, but we can reduce it to the problem of the home, for the national debt strikes directly at the cost of living. Canada's income has remained approximately the same, but the national debt has grown alarmingly. The public debt today is $2,350,000,000, where two years ago it was only $350,000,000. The interest alone today is $140,000,000, while the largest budget under Liberal administration was only $123,000,000."

See Justice Done.

Mr. King freely admitted the obligations necessary as a result of the war and the most sacred obliations devolving upon the nation for the needs of the returned men and soldiers' dependents. To see justice done, these men and women must be the first consideration of Canada. At the same time, the vote of $560,000,000 for carrying on public affairs this year in Canada should be scrutinized. It meant $350 for every family of five in Canada, or almost $1 per day for federal taxes alone, to say nothing of provincial and municipal. Moreover, it must be remembered that the taxation of wealth came ultimately out of the pockets of the consumers.

The Home Standpoint.

These great financial problems were the reason why the Liberal party pledged itself first of all to deal with the question primarily from the standpoint of the home and the needs of the home. All other expenditures must be made to conform to the home burdens of the people.

The merchant marine policy of the government was slated severely by Mr. King, who pointed out that 62 ships were built without tenders for their construction being called, as required by law. Also there was the expenditure of demobilization $350,000,000 the first year, $30,000,000 in 1920, and several millions this year, seemingly to have continued as long as the war itself had not the government been forced to go to the country. He criticized, too, the acceptance of warships from Britain, when their maintenace and equipment cost millions of dollars. At least, the expense might have been spared until after the world's nations settled the question of armament.

Tariff

The question of the tariff was dealt with squarely and definitely by the Liberal chieftain, in almost the same words used during his speeches in 1920 on the occasion of his visit to Alberta. He declared that any party must work for the development of the natural wealth of
