MONUMENTS M'BRIDE LEAVES ON EXCHEQUER OF PROVINCE

(Bella Coola Courier)

Attorney - general Bowser, speaking to a meeting of Conservatives of ward four in Vancouver, said that "if the day ever came when the Conservative party would be called upon to retire from public life in British Columbia, they would have the satisfaction of knowing that they had left their impress upon the public life of the province, and the monuments of their administration would remain for all time to come."

The marked decadence in the agricultural industry and the rapidly increasing importation of foodstuffs that should be raised here is one of the impresses which the government has left upon the life of the province.

The enormous bond guarantees to which the province has been committed by the Bowser-McBride government; the loan of $10,000,000 to take the place of the surplus which was boastfully proclaimed to be lying in the bank; the nearly six million acres of the most accessible lands in the province held by speculators, to the exclusion of the bona fide settlers, are a few more of the impresses which the government can truthfully claim to have left on the life of the province.

On the subject of monuments we do not care to dwell, but just to show we agree with the attorney-general, we just mention an increase in the public debt of $10,000,000 up to date, with more to follow; an interest liability on account of railway guarantees equal to one-fourth of our annual revenue. These monuments we sincerely hope may not "remain for all time to come." Then finally there will be a monument in London in the person of Sir Richard himself comfortably enthroned as Canadian high commissioner.

Of course, there are hundreds of lesser monuments the province over, such as roads which start nowhere and go nowhere, bridges which nobody wanted and rarely ever use; but of these we will not speak.

Preparing Prize Lists

The work of preparing the prize list for the second annual fair is now well under way and the list will soon be ready for the printer. The list has been considerably revised and promises many new features which will be popular with exhibitors.

There is every indication that this year's fair will be a huge success, and with an exhibition building the society will be in good shape to handle it.

The fair dates are Sept. 29 to Oct. 1.

COMPLETE ALASKA SURVEY IN SUMMER

N. J. Ogilvie and Party Will Work on the Panhandle This Year

Vancouver, April 28.—The establishment of the British Columbia-Alaska international survey will be completed this summer. Noel J. Ogilvie of Ottawa, the expert in charge of the work, arrived last week.

Mr. Ogilvie states that the work was nearly completed last summer, and that this summer he and his staff will turn their attention to the long "panhandle" extending down from Alaska along the western boundary of northern British Columbia.

This part of the work will not be nearly so arduous as that which the surveyors experienced in delineating the survey of the boundary between Alaska and the Yukon. United States surveyors will probably arrive in Alaska at the same time that Mr. Ogilvie and his party reach their destination.

Mr. Ogilvie said that he would gather his party in Vancouver, and that all the supplies would be purchased and the party outfitted here. He has not completed the details of organization and could not say how many men would compose his party. Probably twelve or fifteen will go north with him. He expects to leave for the north within a very few days.

Notice

Storage belonging to Joe Jorgonson left in the Houston Cafe will be sold by private sale after 30 days if not settled for and removed.

ALMOST THREE SCORE AND TEN YEARS

An Ontario exchange under the heading "Birthdays of Note" has the following brief sketch of the father of ex-Mayor Pattullo of this city:

"George R. Pattullo, registrar of deeds for the county of Oxford and long prominent in journalism and politics, celebrates his sixty-ninth birthday today in Woodstock. He was for sixteen years editor and proprietor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, and at one time held office as president of the Canadian Press association. Later he acted for several years as agent for the Liberal party in Ontario. He has taken an interest in historical research, in the encouragement of horticulture, in work for children and in other phases of public service, and acted as the first secretary of the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park commission."
