Gangs of "political ruffians" tonight forced several moving pictures showing American films to close. When the dance was at its height, they took possession of the floor and made a number of bitter anti-American speeches. Several American women fainted.

GETTING ROAD WORK STARTED

Preliminaries Being Done Now and One Camp Will be in Full Swing Next Week

P. W. Anderson, provincial government road superintendent, reports that some little difficulty is being experienced in getting the Kaien Island road work under way owing to the wet nature of the ground and the necessity of cutting a trail up from the salt water to suitable camping grounds. At the present time there is a small gang doing this work and, with other equipment arriving on the Cardena tomorrow, it is expected that the camp will be in full swing by the end of the week.

BRIDGE ON BELLA COOLA RIVER WAS WRECKED RECENTLY

Recent floods on the Bella Coola River caused the big bridge across that river at Hagensborg to be practically wrecked, P. W. Anderson, road superintendent, reports after a visit to the district. A huge tree, coming down the stream, became entangled in the piling and tore much of it away rendering the span unsafe and practically useless. The government has repairs well in hand despite the fact that it will practically mean the building of a new bridge.

Manson and Kergin Address a Friendly Alice Arm Audience at Which Two Hundred are Present

ALICE ARM, June 7. — An audience of 200 voters which filled McDonald Hall to capacity was addressed here Thursday evening by Hon. A. M. Manson and H. F. Kergin. For two and a half hours Manson discussed the issues of the present campaign and why the Liberal government should be returned. He had the audience with him throughout and there was no disturbance of any kind. He gave a history of the McRae party—the party made at the Vancouver Club but for political reasons given a Vernon setting. He quoted from Searchlights and showed the inaccuracies in that publication.

Mr. Manson said he had no quarrel with the Conservative party as a party. It had produced able men but today was saddled with Bowser, a fact which doomed it in the eyes of the people. The mistakes of the Bowser regime were not errors of judgment but deliberate errors. For eight years Bowser had fought all constructive legislation while he was in opposition.

Kergin's Challenge

Mr. Kergin in a short address gave a brief account of his stewardship. He told what he had done and was trying to do and referred to several charges that had been circulated by the local opposition party in which he was alleged to have benefitted financially in the letting of road and bridge contracts. He discussed these and denied them in toto. He challenged any member present to take the platform and submit any evidence to the audience. The challenge was not accepted.

Engineer Reports Favorably on Queen Charlotte Islands Gold and Coal Mining Prospects

A good proposition for further development work and one which will mean a great thing for the coast if it develops into tonnage is a coal seam which was opened up on Skidegate Inlet across from Slate Chuck last fall by a man named Gordon says G. A. Clothier, resident mining engineer, who recently made an inspection of the prospect.

After they had uncovered the seam, which is believed to be an old one, Gordon and his partner did some work on it and opened up eight feet of coal containing probably four or five feet of fairly clean quality. It was tested by Mr. Clothier in a blacksmith forge and was adjudged to be an excellent blacksmith coal. Tried out in a cook stove, it was found to be a little hard to start but, once going, it gave out a wonderful heat with fairly heavy ash. Samples have been sent to the Department of Mines for analysis.

The seam is located practically on the beach and production could be handled very cheaply. Developing tonnage, it would be a fine working proposition.

Black Sands

While on the Islands, Mr. Clothier inspected the operations of the P.B.C. Mining Co. with the gold sands at Massett and found that some really worth while experiments were being conducted. Mechanical and chemical smelting processes are being combined and possibilities are good that the work can be carried out to show a profit.

There are millions of yards of black sands on Massett Inlet and along the north beach half way down the east coast. The company is starting in at Massett with a good sized plant and, if the experiment proves satisfactory as it is expected it will, a couple more plants will be put in on the east coast.

Mr. Cothier was not able to finish his inspection work on his last trip to the Islands and expects to leave at the first of next week to visit the vicinity of Jedway and Lockeport where considerable prospecting is going on.

London Strike Likely to Last Some Time as Small Unions Joining

Communists Issue a Statement in which they Welcome Spirit of Revolt among Workers

LONDON, June 7.—The railway companies are refusing to make any concessions demanded by the striking shopmen. With some of the smaller unions showing a disposition to support the men, the strike will likely be extended.

The transport workers union, which embraces the omnibus workers, absolutely refuses to support the strike: There is also a threatened strike for better pay on the part of the workers at the amusement park of the Empire exhibition.

Minister of Labor Thomas Shaw, speaking in the House of Commons, said the government would give the fullest protection to men working during the dispute.

Later Despatch

LONDON, June 7. — British communists today showed their hands in the railway strike which is continuing to spread while the people are awaiting a further statement of the government's intentions.

The communist party of Great Britain has issued a statement declaring that the workers have tried vainly to get their grievances remedied through constitutional trade union machinery and had decided to strike only after it was evident officials of the national union of railwaymen did not intend to act. It said the party welcomed this growing spirit of revolt.
