Educating Parents Work Of Children.

It is surprising what a lot of education parents need. As a rule they have no training for the chief business of life which is that of raising a family. It is the one thing more neglected than anything else. They are taught or they take the trouble to learn without teaching how to read, write and cypher, how to behave in ordinary intercourse of life, how to amuse themselves and how to earn a livelihood. All these things are desirable, but the climax of the whole is left out and that is the training for parenthood. The result is usually that the child has to be the teacher.

Children are always training their parents, even after the youngsters have grown up. The person who has not had child training is only half educated. How is it possible for a woman who has not had the arms of her own little one around her neck to be the same as her more fortunate sister. She is not and cannot be. All the argument in the world will not make her the same.

Mill Loss Was Great To City.

The loss of the Seal Cove mill is a great one to the city. While the main part of the mill is left, an important part of the remanufacturing plant is gone as well as the facilities for handling and the result will be that it cannot operate again for at least six months.

Prince Rupert was just beginning to feel the benefit from the mill and, while it was to have closed down for a short time, new work was going on there all the time with a view to making it a permanent and steady source of employment. Now half of it is gone and the owners will have a lot to do to get it again to a point where it may be operated profitably and successfully. It is satisfactory that the main part of the mill is left.

Cow Bay Question Is Again Discussed.

The Cow Bay question is again being discussed. Had it not been for the fire at Seal Cove it would have been the most discussed question here today. As it is, people are much interested in it and are canvassing the situation from all angles.

It seems to us to be a question that needs a great deal of careful consideration before action is taken. There are a good many people who do not see what the city wants with waterfront anyway and there are others who fear that the Yacht Club will be interfered with under the new arrangement. What is certain is that the fishermen should have accommodation provided for them. This work is not one for the city but for the marine department of the federal government and doubtless will receive attention from them. The railway will need Cow Bay, undoubtedly, and will have it eventually whether the city says so or not. If the Board of Railway Commissioners says they may fill it in and use it, the work will be done and the city will have no recourse.

How Changes Are Brought About.

It is curious how political changes are brought about. Often it is done by a process of whispering. Those opposed to a government tell everyone they meet quietly that the end of the government is in sight, that everybody is turning against them, that they are "a bunch of crooks" and that they are bringing the country to ruin. If this is persisted in, people in time come to think it is true and vote accordingly at the next election. That was done recently in connection with Dominion affairs and it is attempted again in connection with provincial politics. It is always done more or less by both parties. The main thing seems to be to win, no matter how dishonorable the tactics used in gaining the desired end.

VOTING ON NAAS.

Editor Daily News:

Are we still on the map or are we forgotten? That is the question the voters of the Naas Valley are now asking themselves.

Though they were not honored with any personal visits from the candidates each one of them had made his or her choice and was entitled to a vote.

The weather which heralded the great day was typical of the lovely, changable climate of the valley. Snow six inches deep and more falling. Still the ardent voters made their way to what ought to have been the polling station, but, "O Death, where is Thy Sting," there was no ballot box. "Some one had blundered," and they were deprived of their vote.

Two days later an Indian leisurely walked into the general store with the lost ballot box.

Does it not seem strange to you dear reader, that proper arrangements could not have been made so that these people would have been able to vote and would not feel that they had been ignored.

Let us hope that such a condition will be remedied next time. Maybe more zealous officers could be appointed to carry out the task of safely landing the ballot box at Aiyansh.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

(The returning officer informs us that every effort was made to get the ballot boxes to Aiyansh in time for voting but that without the use of an airplane it was impossible.—Editor.)

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 16, 1915.

The city council decided last night to offer free utilities to any regiment or portion thereof that it may be decided to locate here for training.

Ald. W. H. Montgomery submitted a motion at last night's meeting of the city council requiring the hospital to give an estimate of its 1916 expenditure so that the matter of a city grant may be placed before the electors in January. The motion was defeated.

G. A. McNicholl, G.T.P. industrial commissioner, has been appointed assistant freight and passenger agent with headquarters at Prince Rupert and jurisdiction from Prince George west and on the coast from Portland to Alaska.

It is understood that the German government intends to send small gunboats up the Rhine River thence overland and down the Danube for service in the eastern seat of war.

Ernest Carlson, A.F. and A. Pearson and Ed. Martensen will leave tomorrow morning for Sweden where they will spend Christmas. J. Holten, bound for Norway, will accompany the party.

The steamer City of Seattle, which went on the rocks in Grenville Channel, is to be drydocked here for examination. The Admiral Farragut will arrive in port tonight to pick up the passengers of the City of Seattle and take them north.

THE MAN IN THE MOON says:

IN the fall a young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts o' ducks,
If he misses them he mutters
"Let them go, they're fishy. Shucks!"

THE turkeys that have survived Thanksgiving are looking forward to being eaten at Christmas. Great to be a Turkey!

TIME was when a young man went to the dogs. Today he does not need to go anywhere. The cats come after him.

YOU'D imagine now that we're six or seven months from April 1, that young people would not want to play the fool all the time, but they do. And it is not always play.

THE most difficult habit to cultivate permanently is the savings bank habit. So many people fear becoming slaves to habit.

THE younger they are, the more advice they have to offer.

AT eight the Miss is apt to take
Advice without a pout
She often does as she is told
And seldom is put out.

At twelve she just begins to learn
To let you know her mind.
And that is when she feels, alas
That older folks are blind.

Sixteen's the age when every girl
No matter dark or fair,
Knows how to guide her parents with Enthusiasm rare.

And then at twenty she becomes
A little blase, and
She thinks the world is made for her
To lead with her slim hand.

At thirty she begins to fear
Life is not what it seems
She takes the best that she can get
And favors she esteems.

I'd tell of forty if I might
Without annoying mein
But some day if you visit me
I'll mention what I've seen.

So this is where I stop my tale
There's nothing more to say.
No lady ever older is
Than thirty and a day.

IF there were no neighbors nobody would ever go to the poor house.

ARMISTICE Day made me think, and I came to the conclusion that a brave man was he who would marry three times.

THE best proof I have that all girls are swindlers is the girl pictures on the covers of magazines. They're not half as nice inside.

IT is a pity basketball does not thrive here. What will the girls have to maul if they do not get a game once in a while?

THE editor says the greatest invention he knows is the waste paper basket. It settles so many difficulties.

A "JANE" on Monday night may be all right, but Sunday is the night I usually go out with one.

A howling wind came down the street
It made the girl's cheeks red
It whirled around their ankles and . . .
Oh, well, enough is said.

IT looks as if the city is in for another season of talk on the Cow Bay question. Local debaters will be pleased to know that the 1925 city council has taken the matter up and is doing its best to have it retained for another decade as the popular local topic of discussion.

WITH Mayor Newton's "tacit" announcement that he will be through this year, many "aspects" of the situation will be lost in the arena of municipal politics.

Are the Pennies Blocking Your Way

Some women, even though they realize what a waste of time and what a tiring job washing is, still they struggle with washday because they think laundry service is beyond their names.

But if they'd only try our Thrift-T Service they'd know how economical laundry service can be.

Everything washed clean, your flat work ironed, wearing apparel just to iron—and the cost is only 5c per lb. and 1c per piece.

Get rid of washday and you'll have many new hours a week to use them as you wish. You'd like to have them of course, so don't let the pennies stand in the way.
