night that held up the mails for a year. It was simply that tired, rundown feeling.

Mailman Horace W. Carpenter, 44, was caught Wednesday and charged with delaying delivery of 15,000 pieces of mail. Postal inspectors said Carpenter, a letter carrier for 14 years, told them he often grew fatigued toward the end of his route and chucked the rest of the mail in the trunk

He always planned to deliver them another day when he had less to carry. But he never did and the pile of letters grew and grew.

None of the mail was tampered with and someone other than Carpenter will deliver it before the end of the week, Carpenter, released without bail pending grand jury action, faces up to five years in prison if convicted.

MURRAY TELLS BIG CROWD

Civic Centre operation

It's about time the people of Prince Rupert had more voice in the affairs of their city, claimed mayoralty candidate Arthur Murray last night—and he said, a good place to start would be to take over the Civic Centre.

The ex-parks commissioner told an overflow crowd of more than 200 at a public meeting at the Civic Centre that, if he is elected December 17, he will urge years is an active member of the purchase of the Centre by "The Civic Centre is a millstone around our necks, much as we need it" he said. The people are paying for it anyway, but the board of directors is not responsible to them. There is no control at all.

"I believe the Centre should be run by a committee appointed by the mayor" Mr. Murray stated. Mr. Murray also revealed two
