RAILWAY MAY PAY ITS WAY

Hon. C. A. Dunning Thinks Interest Charges to Public May be Met this Year

RECAPITALIZATION PLAN

OTTAWA, May 26.—After reviewing the most successful year in the history of the Canadian National Railways, Hon. C. A. Dunning announced in delivering his first railway budget that "given a reasonably good harvest and freedom from traffic losses due to labor difficulties, it may be possible for the National Railways this year meeting the entire interest charges to the public." The ministers optimism was, he said, based on the fact that the earnings of the first quarter of this year were nearly six million dollars more than for the same period a year ago. The budget requirements this year were given as $31,100,000.

Although the minister did not definitely state that the Government would wipe out the huge debt due the government on which it is his opinion and was that of his predecessor that the railway could never pay the interest, he hinted that something like that may be done and announced that Sir Henry Thornton was working out some kind of reorganization financial scheme involving readjustment of the railway capital.
