SHORT SPORT

An Australian rugger team currently touring Britain has drawn plenty of cheers for its dazzling play but is coming in for a fair number of boos for what some fans consider unnecessary roughness. Unhappiest incident of the tour to date came at Llannelly in Wales when C. J. Windon, vice-captain of the tourists, was ordered from the field by referee Ivor David following an injury to one of the local players. The Aussies protested the ruling and feeling ran high between both teams for a short time but there was no further incident. After the game—won by the visitors, 6-4—the teams dined together in apparent amity but it was reported the Aussies decided to attend a dance in their honor later that evening. Not all critics think the tourists are over-rough. "I have seen them several times," wrote rugby expert Charles Bray in the Daily Herald, "and I have not the slightest hesitation in saying they are one of the fairest and cleanest teams I have ever seen. Keen and very fit, they tackle hard but there has been no sign of unfair or dirty play."

When Fairey Fulmar came home by a neck in the Cambridgeshire Stakes, at odds of 28-1, he startled many a backer who'd plunged on a shorter-priced horse—but there was no surprise in Lanark, hometown of winning Jockey Tommy Gosling. Two weeks before the big race Gosling spent a brief holiday at home and tipped his mount freely to all and sundry. "Nearly every man and woman in Lanark backed Fairey Fulmar," chortled one local resident. "The bookies took an awful beating."

The dogs were flashing by the winning post at Doncaster's grey-hound track in hot pursuit of a mechanical hare—when a real rabbit hopped onto the track and whizzed past in the opposite direction. The dogs were either well trained or deficient in hunting instincts; They left the live hare alone and continued their chase of the clockwork quarry.

Alfred Cross is a grave-digger at Horden in Durham, and is also No. 1 supporter of the local soccer team. Saturday afternoon funerals should be stopped, says Alfred, so he can attend all his team's matches. Otherwise he should be paid extra for a Saturday interment, in order to hire a substitute. The vicar says "Alfred is the best sexton I ever had," and is taking the matter up with church authorities.

National League Leaders Meeting Tonight—Bost at Montreal, Detroit at Toronto

TORONTO — With an almost deadlock situation now existing between four clubs for the league leadership—Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins being on even terms for first place with Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens tied for runner-up position only one point behind—early season crucial games will be played tonight. Detroit will be playing on Maple Leaf Gardens ice here while Boston will be meeting the Canadiens at the Forum in Montreal. The tail-ender Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers will be playing at Madison Square Garden.

Sunday night will find the Canadiens in New York, the Maple Leafs at Chicago, and the Red Wings at Boston.

The league standings to date:

Plane propellors are so delicately balanced that a cigarette paper laid on one blade will cause a 1,000-pound propellor to revolve on a testing axle.
