Tells of His British Trip

Tanned, Fit and Full of Vigor Abbie Eyolfson Back Home

Tanned, fit and full of pep and vigor, Leading Seaman Albert Eyolfson is back in town after a trip that carried him across Canada, the Atlantic Ocean and the length and breadth of the United Kingdom as representative of the local Sea Cadet Corps and guest of the Navy League.

To Abbie the experience was one of interest and education. Leaving Prince Rupert August 24 he travelled by train to Montreal where he met his commanding officer, Lt. Cdr. Moffatt, Midshipman Graham Atkins and other Sea Cadets making the trip, except the boys from the Maritimes who joined the party later. At Halifax the group of 25 boys and their two officers were given a civic reception and Abbie, being the Cadet who had travelled the farthest from home, was called to give an impromptu address to the gathering and over the air.

The sea trip on H.M.C.S. Warrior was pleasant with plenty of physical training to keep the boys in trim and floor hockey for recreation. Arriving in Greenock, Scotland, the Cadets were taken to see the Rosyth Dockyards near Edinburgh. While there they were quartered on H.M.S. Cochrane and spent sometime seeing the sights of Edinburgh which Abbie thought was the most interesting city he visited in the United Kingdom.

By train the Canadian party travelled to Portsmouth where they stayed almost a week, living on H.M.S. Royalist. They were taken to see the mine-laying school, torpedo school, motor torpedo school, gunnery school, visited Nelson's old Victory and had one day at sea on a Royal Navy destroyer out on a torpedo run. It was at Portsmouth that Abbie made his second public address of the trip. It too was an impromptu speech, given while the cadets were having tea with the Lord Mayor of Portsmouth.

When the boys got back to London they were given their first and only leave. Abbie went to Liverpool in the 48 hours permitted him. After their leaves the group visited London Tower, the Houses of Parliament, St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and some of the other spots of interest. On one afternoon they had tea with Canada's High Commissioner, N. A. Robertson, and on their last night in London, Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, British Minister of Defence, addressed them at a formal banquet.

On their way back to embark on the Warrior at Greenock, the boys had only 35 minutes in Glasgow. Just time to have breakfast and catch another train. The westward crossing of the Atlantic was not a smooth one according to Abbie, although most of the boys managed to stay on their feet and the two or three who had to stay in their bunks were taking an interest in things again before the storm blew itself out.

Once in Canada and several times overseas, the touring Sea Cadets were subjects for newsreel cameramen and Abbie has been informed that one picture, taken while the party was visiting H.M.S. Victory at Portsmouth, is now showing in Canada. The Cadets saw one soccer game in the United Kingdom, did not attend any dances and had no parties but, wherever they had a stop-over, there were British Sea Cadets on hand to show the visitors around and to see that they did not get lost. While in Portsmouth the boys were taken to see the opera "Student Prince" and for Abbie this was one of the most entertaining features of the whole trip.

He has not yet quite made up his mind but Abbie is thinking of entering the service of one of the banks here. He junior matriculated from High School here last year.

The theory of refrigeration for preserving food was first expressed in the middle of the 18th century.
