Prince Rupert shares interest in Stewart Anglican wedding

In a Valentine setting of flickering candlelight and red and white flowers a wedding of wide interest in Prince Rupert was solemnized in Stewart, B.C. February 12 when Miss Violet Manojlovich of Stewart became the bride of Godfrey J. H. Schaeffer of this city.

Lavishly profused with bouquets of red roses, pink and white carnations and baby mums, St. Mark's Anglican church was the scene of the double-ring 8 p.m. ceremony officiated by the Very Rev. G. T. Pattison, Dean of Caledonia.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Angeline Manojlovich and the late Andrew Manjlovich of Stewart, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Caroline Schaeffer and the late Frederick Schaeffer of Prince Rupert.

Given in marriage by her godfather Ugles Porobich, the bride was preceded down the aisle by Miss Mary Manojlovich, who attended her sister as bridesmaid.

Heavy white satin, richly fashioned the bride's full-length bouffant skirt, accented with flowered appliqued lace. A circular neckline edged with a satin and lace overcollar styled the bodice, featuring sleeves tapered to lily points.

A pill-box headpiece composed of encrusted lace, seed pearls and sequins gracefully secured her finger-tip veil of illusion net.

Her only jewellery was a single strand of pearls and pearl earrings, gift of the groom, while the bridal bouquet was made from Sweetheart roses.

In a delicate apricot shade was the chiffon gown worn by the bridesmaid. Fashioned in cocktail length with floating panels down the back, the taffeta bodice was emphasized with a cowl collar, short sleeves and a low-styled waistline. En tone were her gloves and tiny bow headpiece. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations to complete her ensemble.

Best man was the groom's brother-in-law Sidney W. Dickens of this city.

Performing ushering duties were Rudolph Kasum and John Hecimovic both of Stewart.

For the reception at her home the bride's mother wore a brown crepe gown with a lace bodice and matching lace skirt inserts offset with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The groom's mother chose to wear a royal blue and black embroidered gown of cocktail length. Her feathered hat was of a blue tone and she wore a pink carnation corsage.

The bridal couple received their best wishes seated before a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by tapers.

Robert MacLeod proposed the toast to the bride and Mr. Dickens read congratulatory telegrams received from Australia, Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert and Terrace.

Among the many guests were friends from Hyder, Alaska.

For travelling aboard the "Canadian Prince" to Prince Rupert, the bride wore a dark brown wool dress, topped with an attractive beige tweed coat and dark brown accessories.

The groom is employed at the Columbia Cellulose Company Ltd., at Watson Island and newlyweds have taken up residence at 201 Seventh Avenue East.

MISS BESSIE SNIDER IN ATTENDANCE

Mrs. J. Black heads city women's council

The election Wednesday of Mrs. J. S. Black as president of the Prince Rupert Women's Co-ordinating council received the personal congratulations of Social Worker Miss Bessie Snider, who in 1943 helped to inaugurate the women's group in the city.

Now with the Special Branch of the Social Welfare with headquarters in Victoria, Miss Snider was at the time of the council's institution employed at the Court House.

Leaving this morning following a three-week business visit Miss Snider expressed her "delight" at the work of the council and the meeting's membership, attended by 24 members.

"This is very gratifying, when we organized in 1943, we had six members," the social worker said.

In other elections Mrs. Hugh Muir was elected vice-president; Mrs. A. L. Haines, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Rae, secretary; Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. W. D Smith, Mrs Leonard Raabe and Mrs. James Ciccone, executive; Mrs. Black and Mrs. T. A. Paavola, west end sick committee; Mrs. Arthur Leighton, east end sick committee; Mrs. Michael Karasosky, publicity; Mrs. H. I. Phipps, auditor; Mrs. T. Norton Youngs, invitations and Mrs. Haines, telephoning.

Retiring president Mrs. Norman Moorehouse was given a vote of thanks for heading the past year, reported one of the most financially and socially successful years on record.

A May meeting will be held to make plans for annual June tea, held for members of the Prince Rupert Over Seventy club.

Brother, sister christened on St. Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day was chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Terence Shenton of this city for the baptismal ceremony of their son and daughter performed in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral Sunday afternoon with Rev. George T. Pattison officiating.

Receiving names were 14-month-old Richard Terence and two-month-old Tracy Irene.

Attending as godparents for Tracy Irene were William Gurney: the baby's aunt, Miss Jill Weise and Mrs. John Lenuik by proxy for aunt Miss Nita Weise, who is in Vancouver attending school.

Godparents for the baby boy were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nickerson and Allan Kelsey.

A christening tea in honor of the tiny principals was held at the home of maternal grandmother Mrs. M. C. Weise. Maternal grandfather is J. E. Weise of Bethel, Alaska, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Shenton of this city.

Great-grandparents are Herbert Morgan Sr. and Alfred Watkinson of this city and Mrs. John Weise Sr. of Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

Jaycettes appeal for sitters

The Prince Rupert Jayettes today appealed to city women over 21 years of age who are interested in doing baby-sitting work to register at the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The request for registrations was made Wednesday night when the group held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. George Dover.

Plans to organize a baby-sitting service in Prince Rupert by the Jaycettes were completed when guest speaker was Arthur Rutherford of the UIC, who gave the city women tips in operating such a service in Prince Rupert.

Chaired by president Mrs. George Dover, in other business, the meeting decided to hold its annual "Pot Luck" supper on March 25. Refreshments concluded the session.

Bible society work explained

William Lloyd Franklin, president of the Prince Rupert branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society said today that "it is not an outside organization, it is primarily a missionary movement."

"The Bible Society does not stand apart from the churches as something to be supported by the churches but rather it is an agent of the churches in a program of world evangelism," the local president said in a release.

He explained how the Bible Society does not decide that it is going to translate a certain language or publish the Bible in a certain tongue.

"The Society merely does what the churches and missionaries ask it to do," Mr. Franklin said.

Toastmistresses' membership increasing

Four new members were introduced last week when the Prince Rupert Toastmistresses club held its regular meeting at the home of Dagny Rensvold.

Welcomed by president Erna Milnes were Peggy Love, Elaine Bateman, Berma Craft and Stella Mussallem.

Evaluator for the table topic "The Fishing Industry" was Catherine Holder.

Special table speakers were Belle Apps, reading a recipe and Dagny Rensvold, who gave her introductory speech.
