SETTLERS ARE ON INCREASE

DIRECTOR OF C.N.R. COLONIZATION DEPARTMENT MAKES HIS ANNUAL REPORT

MONTREAL, Jan. 26. — There has been an appreciable increase in the movement of new settlers to the Dominion from the British Isles, the Scandinavian countries and other places in Europe, during the year just ended, and in directing these people to Canada and placing them on the land, the Department of Colonization, Agriculture and Natural Resources of the Canadian National Railways, has played an important part by means of the overseas organization and through the forces established in this country. The Director of the Department, Dr. W. J. Black, in reporting on the season's work to W. D. Robb, vice-president in charge of colonization, is enabled to state that in the matter of families transferred to new homes in Canada, domestics brought across and placed in employment, juveniles sent to farm apprenticeship and men placed in agricultural work, the activities of the department during 1926 show an increase of 216 per cent in comparison with 1925.

It requires some time to effect a complete analysis of arrivals at the Atlantic ports, but with a general increase in third class passengers, it is quite clear that the rural population of Canada has received considerable addition. In twelve months of 1926, third class passengers arriving at the ports of Quebec, Halifax and Saint John, numbered approximately 125,000 and of that total more than 66,000 proceeded to their destinations in this country over the lines of the Canadian National Railways.

NOT ALL IMMIGRANTS

Not all third class passengers are immigrants, and, on the other hand, a percentage of settlers will always be found in the cabin class. Again, there are returning Canadians included in third class returns, as well as tourists, but the greater proportion of those crossing the Atlantic in the third class are new to the country.

In the report prepared by Dr. Black it is shown that the number of families from the British Isles who came to Canada during the year was double that of the previous year. In the movement from the Scandinavian countries, from Holland, from Switzerland, from Belgium and from other parts of Europe, there is also shown an increase in the number of families, which is regarded as highly satisfactory.

Another section of the report deals with the results of land seekers' excursions, a movement encouraged by the department's staff which periodically directs prospectivs land purchasers towards suitable sections in the west. During the year the excursionists who came from various points in the Western part of the United States purchased land from the company and from private owners amounting to 24,000 acres, paying more than $427,000 for these lands.

The general activities of the Colonization Department in Canada include the enlargement of facilities and the establishment of accommodation at Winnipeg to take care of new settlers. Considerable work has been done in establishing settlements, one such being at Pass Lake, Sibley Township near Port Arthur, where a settlement of Danish agriculturists has had considerable success. In the Abitibi district of Quebec a number of Polish families have been placed.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSE

In connection with the work in the British Isles, attention is drawn in Dr. Black's report to the correspondence lecture course in Canadian farming. This course, comprising ten separate lectures, has been devised for the salaried worker or the young man at the threshold of life's work who has come to realize that while there may be little in front of him in the crowded conditions in the Old Country, there exists for him real opportunities in the free open-air life of Canada. This course has been specially designed for the man interested in Canadian farming who is ambitious to possess a farm of his own. So successful has been the plan since its inception in the British Isles that the Department of Colonization has now decided to extend it to some of the Continental countries and the course is now being translated into the languages of the countries concerned. Up to the period dealt with by Dr. Black's report, 1502 students had enrolled in the British Isles for the course.

Reports from Overseas officers of the Colonization Department, Canadian National Railways, indicate extensive bookings for the current year with a consequent increase during 1927 of the flow of immigration to Canada.

DEVELOPING NEW CATTLE SPECIES

EXPERIMENTAL STATIONS ARE WORKING ON BREED WHICH WILL WITHSTAND ARCTIC WINTERS

VANCOUVER, Jan. 26.—The Dominion government is co-operating with the United States authorities in the development of a species of cattle that will withstand the rigor of the Arctic winter.

Beef and dairy breeds suitable for the climate of Alaska and the vast tundra of northern Canada are now being made at several experimental farms in the Far North. The most hardy beef breed, the Galloway, is being crossed with the shaggy yak, of Asia, to produce a desirable cattle for northern climes. The cattle-yak calves obtained by these crosses are too young as yet to determine just how far they will meet the requirements, but results are said to be promising.

The first yak-Galloway, the result of mating the yak bull to a Galloway cow, was a curious freak. At the time of its birth, which was normal in all respects, there was little to distinguish it from a full-blooded Galloway. As it grew, however, its tail became bushy and its hair grew shaggy. Two other cattle-yak cows, several months younger, had coal-black curly hair at birth. The hair of one has since turned brownish in color and rather wooly. All these calves grunt like the yak when hungry rather than bawl like a calf.

In order to develop a sturdy dairy breed for the north country, the Galloway, which is strictly a beef breed, was crossed with the Holstein-Friesian, the crosses being made both ways. The crossbreeds are hornless like the Galloway, but lack the heavy coat of the famous beef type. Only first generation crosses have come to the milking stage so far. They are not heavy milkers, but their output is said to compare favorably with the average family cow. It is hoped that some of the second, third and succeeding generations will show milking qualities tracing back to the Holstein ancestry and that their coats may become thicker. Even the crossbreeds of the first generation face cold, rainy storms and follow the Galloways whereas the pure bred Holsteins do not range in stormy weather, but gradually work their way to shelter.

NAVAL RESERVE NOW HAS ATHLETIC CLUB

Got Away to Good Start Monday Night —Plans to Have Football Team

The Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve Athletic Club got away to a good start on Monday evening. Commencing with about fifteen members in a gymnasium class (although six members are away south on annual training). After a brief spell of physical training, boxing, wrestling and skipping was indulged in until 10 o'clock.

A large attendance is looked for on Thursday. There are still a few vacancies for young men from 18 to 30 years. Applications should be made to the Naval Barracks on the waterfront. Arrangements are also to be made for a football team for the coming season.

MANY GATHERED TO PAY LAST RESPECTS TO LATE E. M. HARRIS

Besides the friends of deceased and his widow, there were many members of the various degrees of the Masonic craft at the service for the late E. M. Harris, chief engineer of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., yesterday afternoon and the assemblage filled the chapel of the B.C. Undertakers. The service was conducted with solemnity and sympathy by Rev. W. F. Price, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Accompanied by the widow, the remains were placed aboard the steamer Cardena and will be taken to San Diego for burial under the auspices of Coronado Lodge 441, F. & A.M.
