SANKEY CASE UP TOMORROW

Chief Justice Hunter Decides he has no Autthority to Hear Appeal

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Sustaining the objection made by A. M. Johnson, K.C., crown counsel, Chief Justice Hunter in the supreme court today decided he had no jurisdiction to hear the application for a change of venue on behalf of Joseph Sankey, charged with the murder at Port Essington of Miss Loretta Chisholm.

J. E. Bird, Sankey's counsel, sought to have the trial take place at New Westminster assizes opening November 8 instead of at Prince Rupert November 23.

Accepting the suggestion of the Chief Justice, Bird subsequently applied to Mr. Justice Morrison, who consented to hear the application Tuesday.

Motion for a change of venue had been refused by Mr. Justice Morrison, August 3.

In arguing the case this morning Mr. Bird said "Sankey had been publicly referred to in the News of Prince Rupert as the murderer of Loretta Chisholm. He added that it would put him in a very unfortunate position if he had to go there and challenge the whole jury on grounds of unfairness.

Terrace Farmer Shoots Two Grizzlies and Wounds Third Near Shore of Lakelse Lake

TERRACE, October 31.—Matt Allard, well known rancher and prospector of Kalum Lake, had a thrilling experience last Wednesday while hunting in the Lakelse Valley. At the mouth of Blackwater Creek on Lakelse Lake he encountered a large grizzly cub which he shot at close range. Suspicious that there would be others in the vicinity, he was not surprised to quickly see a huge chap bearing down upon him at some distance. Being too far from it to be sure of hitting to kill, he was looking for a tree to climb to get better aim, but the animal travelled so quickly that he had to shoot from the ground and was successful in felling it with the first shot. Immediately afterwards a third bear, supposedly a two-year-old, appeared on the scene, and he shot again but the gun jammed and before he remedied it the bear had turned into the brush. He shot again and from the howls knew that he had wounded it, but it got away.

Altogether it is thought there were four grizzlies in the party.

For some days, the wounded bear has been heard around the lake but so far has evaded capture by the few who have had the courage to attempt it.

The hides of the two grizzlies shot by Mr. Allard are on display at the Terrace Club.

SCHOONER DOROTHY, CHARTERED TO FISH COMMISSION, HERE

Capt. Ole Hvatum's big schooner Dorothy, which is under charter for the winter months to the International Fisheries Commission which will use the vessel in carrying out research work on the northern halibut banks, arrived in port at the end of the week from Seattle. Before continuing to Alaska, the vessel is going on the local drydock for the purpose of grounding her wireless equipment.

On board the Dorothy, of which Capt. Hvatum is in personal command, are sixteen men including nine fishermen and six scientists headed by F. Heward Bell who has as his assistants R. V. Butt, William Herrington, E. Pegler, Olof Ericksen and Frank Grantz (wireless operator), Vancouver and Seattle men.

As some forty per cent of the halibut caught are mutiliated or otherwise unfit for tagging, arrangements have been made to put such fish in the market and it is expected that the Dorothy will sell two catches, probably at Prince Rupert, before Christmas when she will proceed south for the holiday period.

The Dorothy will proceed tonight to Ketchikan en route to the western halibut banks.
