THISTLES HAVE LUCKY VICTORY

Empress Club Beaten One to Nil Last Night in Stuart Shield Football Fixture

Thistles beat Empress Social Club one to nil last night at the Acropolis Hill grounds in the second football match of the Stuart Shield series. The Empress team was again weakened by the absence of several strong regulars and, indeed, the team started the game with only nine men on the field. In spite of its handicaps, Empress was unlucky in not making a win or, at least, a draw of it. Throughout the match, except perhaps during the first five minutes, play was fairly even and the Thistles put up a disappointing display against a weakened opposition.

The only goal of the game was a lucky shot, Charlie Baptie scoring for the Scots about five minutes after the opening, after an Empress back had made a miskick. It was entirely a chance shot. From then on, neither side could score, many opportunities being missed by both teams.

William Barton refereed the match in an efficient manner and Alex Clapperton and George Hill were linesmen.

Quite a good sized crowd was out to see the match.

The Empress Club has been beaten in both games played so far in the Stuart Shield series, the Thistles and Regiment each having a win to their credit.

Sport Chat

Native Sons of Canada and Elks Lodge are to battle tonight in the City Baseball League and a fine game of the National pastime is expected. The Elks' Lodge especially is going to be on its toes and will need to be, too, if it is not going to be somewhat eclipsed on the standing sheet. That, however, is not saying that the Canucks aren't going to play some baseball themselves. As matters now stand, the Native Sons have somewhat of a cinch on first place with four wins and two losses while the Gyros are even with the Elks with three wins and four losses. An Elk win is needed to tighten up the city pennant (?) race.

Talking about pennants reminds us that the baseball boys are again putting up good entertainment for the fans this year, with no tangible reward in the way of silverware or trophies. If some well to do and generously inclined fan would step out with something along this line, it would make something definite for the boys to aspire to and, perhaps, arouse even greater interest. While we are not begrudging the soccerists anything but wish them even more, it seems rather out of place that the football teams should have so much to play for while the baseballers are left with nothing. At that, the latter are to be congratulated at carrying on so valiantly with no more reward than the support and appreciation of the fans.
