Sport Chat

The opening of the basketball season is now set for November 14. While the venue for the games has not been definitely decided upon, the selection lies between the Elks' Home and the Auditorium. The latter is favored because it is roomier all around and has more accommodation for spectators but it lacks certain conveniences for the use of players. If these are provided, it will probably be chosen. It looks as if there will be three teams each in the Senior, Intermediate and Ladies' League. In the Senior, the Sons of Canada and Elks are definitely entered and the Moose will probably sponsor the third team. The Regiment, Grotto and Colts will compete in the intermediate division. The Ladies' League will be made up of the Maple Leafs, Gils' (formerly Adanacs) and a third aggregation organization of which is in the hands of Miss Marguerite Casey. The winners of the leagues last winter are all in again this year to defend their trophies—namely, Sons of Canada in the Senior, Colts in the Intermediate and Maple Leafs in the Ladies' League.

The Edmonton Journal carries the following editorial comment of interest to bird hunters:

The Stettler Independent is quite sure that, if all the stories of big bags which hunters claim to have obtained were true, the wild life of the province would be on the point of disappearing. It does not believe that they are anything like as expert as the conversation that is heard would lead one to think. It is well within the mark, says the Independent, to say that a dozen shells are expended for one duck that is obtained, which it holds is a matter of congratulation. Considering the rate at which ducks travel, it is not surprising that the casualties are so few in proportion to the shots. The Winnipeg Tribune has been making an investigation and finds that the mallard travels the most slowly of all the members of its feathered family, its rate being between 55 and 90 feet per second, while the canvas-back, which covers from 130 to 160 feet, is the swiftest.
