KIDNEYS

"For three years I have been troubled with kidney trouble, and could scarcely walk for pain. Last Christmas a friend of mine came to stay with us for a few days, and brought with her a bottle of Kruschen Salts, and gave me a good dose. After about a week, taking a little every morning, I found the trouble leaving me, and I could walk well. I have taken Kruschen regularly until a month ago, and then I thought I could manage without them, but last week the old trouble came back again. I immediately got a bottle of Kruschen Salts then and there, and I feel quite a new woman again. I am so grateful that I thought I would write and let you know what I think of your wonderful Salts." Original letter on file for inspection —(Mrs.) K. H.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at drug and department stores in Canada at 75c. a bottle. A bottle contains enough to last for 4 or 5 months—good health for half-a-cent a day.

PEACE IN MEXICO

Quiet Throughout Country Is Reported and Outlook for 1930 Is Bright

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10—Three outstanding events in Mexico in 1929 cleared the political atmosphere and present a bright new year outlook such as was not foreseen by the most optimistic a year ago.

Mexico faces a new year of prospective peace, increasing internal confidence and commercial development and moderate prosperity. These result from the overthrow of the Escobar revolution last spring, settlement of the religious difficulties, and the peaceful presidential election—the significant events of the closing year.

The closing months of 1929 have been distinctly different from the beginning of the year, which started with bloodshed, executions, attempted presidential bombings and revolutionary rumblings which materialized in March, but which were quickly suppressed.

Quiet now is reported by the government throughout the nation. No concern is felt by authorities here at efforts of elements disgruntled by the November election to create trouble. It is believed the overwhelming majority of the people are tired of disorder and bloodshed and desire to get down to the business of working out the country's salvation.

Disturbances may occur during the new year but government officials believe they will be isolated, lack popular support, and quickly be suppressed by an army that today is better equipped, better disciplined and more loyal than at any time in 20 years.

Close observers of Mexico believe that the great majority of the people want to get back to orderly living, peace and prosperity. This has brought the opinion that Mexico's revolutions are a thing of the past for some time to come.

A close student of Mexico expressed it: "Mexico, caught for 20 years in the whirling current of revolution, bloodshed and disorder, has finally drifted into the quiet backwater and lodged on the hope of peace and orderliness."

The central figure in Mexico's whole dramatic change of character is today a private citizen who remains, and is likely to be for years to come, the strongest man in the country—General Flaterno Flias Calles, former president.

General Calles is on record as saying he will step out of retirement to serve his country at any time that disorder threatens. He did this last March when he became secretary of war, took the field against the Escobar rebels and crushed the revolt within a few weeks after it started.

CHINAMAN DISMISSED

Judge Young Finds Kem Sun Wong Not Guilty on Opium Charge

Judge Young, in County Court this morning, dismissed a charge against Kem Sun Wong, proprietor of the West End Cafe, of having opium in his possession. His honor found that, as there were so many entrances to the chicken house where the drug was found and as so many other Chinamen lived around the premises, he could not safely convict accused of the charge. W. E. Fisher acted for the crown in the case and L. W. Patmore was defence counsel.

A further charge of keeping liquor for sale is pending against Kem Sun Wong in city police court.
