9 In Memoriam

MAZZEI—In loving memory of Pat Mazzei who passed away Feb. 16, 1959.
I seem to see in the soft, dim light
A face I loved the best,
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going,
For absence can never close the door of my heart
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world,
Your love the best to recall;
For no one on earth could take your place
You are still the dearest of all.
Sadly missed by his wife Elsie and daughters. (32p)

Noisy muffler

Carl Dennis Leeman of 436 Eighth Avenue East was fined $10 or in default five days when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. T. Applewhaite in police court Saturday morning to the charge of creating a disturbance by having a noisy muffler.
RCMP reported that Leeman was arrested at 2:45, February 7, on Third Avenue when police heard the excessive noise produced by his vehicle.

Blackwood on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

The accuracy and refinements of today's bidding enable a pair to reach the right final contract more often than they could have done with the haphazard methods of twenty years ago.

But the advantages are not all with the side that is doing most of the bidding. Alert and thoughtful defenders can turn the preciseness of modern bidding to their own advantage.

In today's deal Mr. Champion and Mrs. Keen were using a version of the Stayman convention.

The two-club bid asked Mr. Champion to rebid two of a major if he held four cards to an honor in either major suit.

With no such holding he was required to rebid two no trump if he had a maximum no trump opening of 18 points and to rebid two diamonds if he held only 16 or 17 high card points.

Mr. Champion

With his actual holding of 16 points, naturally he rebid two diamonds.

Mrs. Keen then put the hand in three no trump and Mr. Masters led the four of hearts. Dummy's jack held the trick and Mr. Dale played the ten in an effort to show that he had length in the suit even though he could not beat the jack.

Mr. Champion now played out the ace, king, and another diamond and Mr. Masters won the third round with the queen.

At this point Mr. Masters knew that his partner had the queen of spades, so he underled his ace. A low spade was played from dummy and Mr. Dale won with the queen and returned the nine of hearts. Later, when Mr. Masters got in with the ace of spades he was able to cash the rest of his hearts and the ace of clubs for a two-trick set.

How did he know that Mr. Dale had precisely the queen of spades? His reasoning went as follows.

Mr. Champion's second bid had said that he had 16 or 17 high card points, but not 18.

There were nine points showing in dummy and 13 points in Mr. Masters' own hand.

So in these three hands there were either 38 or 39 points, leaving Mr. Dale either one or two points.

But Mr. Dale could not have exactly one point because all four jacks were showing in dummy.

Therefore he had to have two points and that meant he had a queen.

His play at trick one denied holding the queen of hearts, the queen of clubs was clearly visible in dummy and Mr. Masters himself had the queen of diamonds.

Simple, isn't it? Mr. Dale had to hold precisely the queen of spades.
