BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

"You experts," complained Mr. Muzzy, "are always telling me I should have finessed when I didn't and vice versa. What I want to know is, how can you tell when to finesse—and then to forget about finessing and just lay down your high cards."

"Well, it's an art," said Mr. Champion. "You're either born with it, or . . ."

"Come off it," replied Mr. Muzzy angrily. "You can't know for sure about finessing unless you can see all four hands."

"YOU could see all four hands and still not know," said Mr. Champion nastily.

"Just a minute, gentlemen," interrupted Mr. Masters, who usually assumes the role of peacemaker. "Muzzy asked a fair question. Let's tell him about the situations where the odds favor refusing the finesse."

Mr. Muzzy

Today's hand illustrates Mr. Masters' first point. Mr. Champion led the queen of hearts and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. He immediately entered dummy with the king of clubs, returned the jack of spades and let it ride.

Here the fireworks started. Mr. Champion won with the king of spades. He led the jack of hearts and Miss Brash ruffed. She returned the queen of clubs, Mr. Muzzy played the ace and Mr. Champion ruffed. The ace of diamonds provided the setting trick.

Would you have made this contract? You should have, in spite of the fact that the adverse distribution was admittedly very rough.

The point is that your main job here is not to locate the king of spades. It is to take 10 tricks. And this you can do by laying down the ace of spades at trick two and following with another spade. Now the defenders will win one spade trick instead of three. Think of it—a swing of two full tricks by refusing the spade finesse.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

Mr. Muzzy wants to know how to recognize the need for such a play. The answer lies in the bidding and play of each hand. In this deal Mr. Muzzy had two warnings of a possible ruff by the opponents. One warning was Mr. Champion's vulnerable heart overcall at the two level, which promised a holding of at least six hearts and possibly seven. Another was the play of the nine of hearts by Miss Brash at trick one.

And as a clincher there was the fact that Mr. Muzzy did not need a successful spade finesse to make his contract.

Capturing honors fails to guarantee victory

Even if you capture almost all the team and individual honors possible in the Mixed Five-pin Bowling League you can still lose.

This was proven last week in the A League as Jessie Shenton rolled single and triple highs of 287 and 739 assisting in her team, Frosty Lockers, in securing team high single and three with 1275 and 3428 scores only to go down in the hands of Canfisco 3-1.

The Men's high single was taken by Headpinners' Johnny Comadina with a 268 score while Frank Judd of Yukon Gems massed his games for a high three of 710.

In B League competition a new season's record in team high singles was registered, as the Astoria Messenger sextet combined their pin slamming scores for a total of 1380. They also combined for high three 3248.

The Messenger's Del Lundago abetted in the record, collecting Ladies high single honors with a 268 single.

Snaring ladies high three laurels was Eby & Sons' Ethel Eby who cumulated a total of 590 while Hybrids D. Stevens and Caduceans' Ken Freeman earned mens high single and triple honors. Stevens flung the orb for a lofty single of 298 while Freeman amassed his game scores for a total of 688.
