"The Enchanted Cottage"

An adaptation of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's famous play of that name. A picture of rare beauty and artistry, a picture enchanting, fascinating, one that will charm you with it's magic spell—one you will never forget. The story of a boy and girl the world thought homely; they thought so themselves; then through the power of love they became beautiful, for beauty comes from the soul. It shines through the eyes; it illuminates the face.

CLERGY HOLD MEETING HERE

Methodist Ministers of District Urge Better Care for Cannery Children—Three Sessions

The regular annual financial meeting of the Methodist clergy of this district took place in the Methodist Church here yesterday. There were three sessions — morning, afternoon and evening —and much routine business as well as several special items was transacted. Rev. Dr. J. C. Spencer of Bella Bella, district chairman, presided and those attending were Rev. Dr. Oliver Darwin of Vancouver, superintendent of Methodist Missions; Rev. William Allan of Port Simpson; Rev. W. H. Pierce, Port Essington; Rev. Joseph Herdman, Anyox; Rev. Oliver Mann, Skidegate; Rev. J. H. Jolliffe, Sandspit; Rev. G. G. Hacker, Prince Rupert, and Capt. James Oliver of the mission boat Thomas Crosby.

Following the recent fatal fire at Prince Rupert cannery, Tucks Inlet, a resolution was passed requesting all canneries in the district to provide suitable quarters as playgrounds with some responsible person in charge for the children of mothers who work in the canneries. The church offers to co-operate and, in the case of Prince Rupert cannery, it was suggested that quarters might be obtained which could also be used for church services. The Japanese of Sunnyside already have such a place.

The meeting decided to send the mission boat Thomas Crosby to Bella Bella to work in the Smith's Inlet and Rivers Inlet district for the next few weeks. Accordingly the vessel will sail tomorrow with Capt. Oliver and Rev. Dr. J. C. Spencer in charge.

Dr. Darwin urged that special efforts be made this year in view of the fact that it was the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Methodist Missions in Canada.

INSTALL MILL SALMON RIVER ALASKAN MINE

Complete Concentrating Plant to Arrive at Hyder End of This Week

Within the neighborhood of a mile of underground work done and a large tonnage of good milling ore blocked out, the owners of the Riverside mine at Sevenmile, on the Salmon Valley road, are now preparing to realize on their investment of many thousands of dollars spent in developing this property says the Portland Canal News. A complete concentrating plant of 60 tons daily capacity has been ordered and should arrive on the Curacao about the end of this week. Otto Trojanowski, who built the Premier mill, has arrived to construct the Riverside plant. The work will be rushed, and barring unforseen delays the mill should be ready to turn over about the 1st of October.

Without attempting to describe the flow sheet in detail it may be said that included in the equipment will be Traylor gyratory crushers. Colorado ball mills, Wilfley tables for controling the iron content of the ore, two O and D. flotation cells, Oliver filter, etc. Power will be supplied by a 150 h.p. Fairbanks Morse engine for driving the generator. A bunkhouse to accommodate 60 men has just been completed, and 45 men are now employed.

TENESSEE WHITES LIVE IN PAST

Make no Progress Through Lack of Contact With Rest of World

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—Colonies of whites, geographically isolated in the Tennessee mountains, still use the same methods of agriculture, tanning of leather, spinning, weaving and cooking, which were in vogue when the district was settled over a century ago. This was shown in the anthropology section of the British Association today by Miss Isabel Gordon. Although these activities have remained practically stable, well marked peculiarities have been developed in certain directions due to the prolonged isolation from contact with advancing civilization.

TIMBER WILL BE ALL GONE IN 30 YEARS

Speaker at British Association Meeting in Toronto Asks Conservation

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—"At the present rate of depletion, the virgin forests of Canada and the United States will not last more 25 or 30 years," said R. D. Craig and F. Storey, in the botany section of the British Association yesterday, in issuing a plea for the protection, conservation, and extension of timber resources.

"Apart from fuel, usually obtained from hardwoods, an overwhelming proportion of the timber required for industrial purposes is produced by coniferous species, such as pine and spruce, which with few exceptions, are limited in distribution to the North American continent, Northern Europe and Siberia.

"These regions cannot be relied upon permanently as sources of supply. The position in Europe is unfavorable because timber consumption each year far exceeds forest growth.

"Siberian resources are to a large extent unexplored, but as in Northern Russia, large areas of forest are likely to remain undeveloped owing to the difficulty and expense of extracting the timber."

The United States consumes nearly one half of the world's production of timber, the speakers said in pointin out that a limit will be reached to present resources within 30 years, unless preventive measures are taken.

"In view of failing supplies and the slow growth of trees, there is urgent need of reforestation of devastated areas, the protection of young growth, and the conservation of such original forests as still remain," the scientists concluded.

Mah Jong with its east wind, its white dragons, its four seasons and the great wall has brought to popular notice the picturesqueness of the straight Chinese blouse.

ALL sorts of things influence dress—a world war, an interest in sports, a new way of cutting the hair, the introduction of an old game. With Mah Jong has come an appreciation of things Chinese—Chinese colors, embroideries worked in jade and bamboo, coral and mandarin yellow, splendid blue and carnelian, Chinese styles in coats and collars and straight blouses such as Manchu ladies wear. Many women wear the Chinese blouses in Georgette crêpe, crêpe de Chine or cotton voile embroidered or beaded for their Mah Jong parties.
