SANDERS OF RIVER HERE

Thrilling Story of African Jungle Presented on Screen Of Capitol Theatre

Thrills and perils of a journey through the black heart of darkest Africa are brought to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here in "Sanders of the River," colorful filmization of the famous Edgar Wallace story. In connection with the making of the production, a daring expedition into the Congo country was undertaken.

Paul Robeson, brilliant negro actor and singer, has the leading role of an African chief while Leslie Banks has the title part as a miracle-working British district commissioner who, by great personal courage and understanding of the native mind, manages to maintain peace among the jungle people. Nina Mae McKinney plays the important part of a slave girl.

Robeson's voice is heard in several haunting jungle songs and Nina Mae McKinney also chants a number of two. The film is said to adhere faithfully to the thrill-packed story. Striking and beautiful photography is a feature of the production.

HONORED AT LAST RITES

Funeral Of Late Henry Edenshaw Was Largest Ever Held On Queen Charlotte Islands

The funeral of the late Capt. Henry Edenshaw, which took place at Massett last Saturday, was the most largely attended that has ever been held on the Queen Charlotte Islands, according to word received in the city. In attendance were many of the Skidegate people as well as a number of Haida friends from Alaska an dthe majority of the white people in New Massett and around the Inlet, all of whom joined the entire population of the village of Massett for the rites and to demonstrate their respect for one who was acknowledged as an outstanding man in the community. On every side there were expressions of regret at the passing of a man who had won not only the respect but the affection of all.

The church where the funeral service was held was packed to the doors and a splendid choir assisted in the service, singing two appropriate anthems. Rev. A. Abraham, rector at Massett, had charge of the service with Rev. James Gillett, Indian Agent, assisting. Rt. Rev. G. A. Rix, Bishop of Caledonia, delivered the address and expressed the sense of loss which the whole diocese felt in the passing of one whom he considered a very personal friend.

The Massett Band proceeded the cortege to the cemetery, playing suitable funeral marches.

Last night's train, due from the east at 10:20, owing to slow track conditions in the lower Skeena Valley, was about an hour late in getting in.
