COMEDY IS EXCITING

Fast Moving British Piture is "You're In The Army Now"

"You're In The Army Now," a fast-moving comedy drama starring Wallace Ford and Anna Lee, crackling with smart dialogue, amusing situations and a plot of love and adventure in some of the world's gayest outposts, comes to the Capitol Theatre at the middle of this week.

It is a British picture, the story concerning the adventures of a typical New York wise guy who, after a mad brawl in Chinatown, finds himself pinned with a murder charge. Thinking fast, he gets possession of the murdered man's papers and passports, makes a quick getaway and lands in London. He becomes a private in the British army, falls in love with a beautiful blonde, gets in and out of scrapes and eventually winds up as a national hero.

Chorus ensembles, with special swing tunes, are featured in the course of the picture. Gene Bradley plays the part of a night club enchantress. John Mills and Frank Cellier also contribute excellent performances in minor roles.
