HOOVER POLICY IN THE STATES

Report of Commerce Department Shows Improvements in Many Lines

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Recommendations concerning legislation for the reorganization of the Commerce Department, for the control and development of radio and aircraft, and for a revision of the navigation laws, were submitted to President Coolidge yesterday by Secretary Hoover in the annual report of his department.

The secretary also recommended that Congress appropriate funds for a Department of Commerce Building of sufficient size to house all branches of the organization, which at present are scattered through a half dozen buildings in Washington.

Mr. Hoover's report defined the economic progress of the country for the past year, setting out as outstanding features the advance of agriculture prices which had lagged behind industry since the slump of 1922, the beginning of "sound" policies in German reparations leading to a hopeful measure of economic recovery in Europe, and the complete recovery of the nation's own industry and commerce, aside from agriculture.

The past year, the secretary reported, has seen great stability of prices, high production, full employment, foreign trade, and prosperity throughout the business world. There were some moderate decreases in activity of some lines during the latter part of the fiscal year, he added, but since its close, there has again been general recovery in these lines.

"In recent years the commercial use of air travel has increased to a considerable extent, though there is reason to fear that in this respect the United States is not keeping pace with some foreign countries. This method of transportation means much to our economic and social progress, and every encouragement, legislative and otherwise, should be given to its development. At the same time, there should be created a proper system for its regulation, having in view, primarily the safety of life both of passengers and operators, and the orderly conduct of air navigation.

Eliminate Waste

In the field of eliminating national waste, the secretary reviewed the progress made in the unemployment situation. Skillful handling of the problems of slump periods by committees of experts has done great good for general business conditions, he reported.

Seasonal building periods, the report set out, have been so dealt with that building is being spread over the year, eliminating this source of depression. The department's division of simplified practice has brought about a standardization and simplification in many industries with the saving of great sums of money both to manufacturers and to purchasers.

The department has encouraged the purchase and storing of bituminous coal during the summer months, the secretary said, to the great good of the industry which was hampered by its own overdevelopment. The department has also encouraged development of water power resources of the country as a

Oliver Government Gets Good Majority on Second Division in the Legislature Yesterday

VICTORIA, Nov. 29.—Yesterday the government emerged triumphant from its second division on what practically amounted to a vote of want of confidence. The vote for the government stood 27 to 17. Those voting with the government included the three Labor members, three provincial party members, and the one Independent, Major R. J. Burde, of Alberni. Two Liberals and two Conservatives, who paired, were absent and one Provincial was away.

The result of the vote was received with acclamation by the government members, all of whom were very much pleased at the outcome.

The resolution was moved by Joshua Hinchcliffe, the parson member for Victoria, and was in the form of an amendment to the budget motion. Its main feature was that the House "regretted the passing of orders in council under the Mothers' Pensions Act." The reverend gentleman claimed that these orders exceeded the powers conferred on the government by the Act and he made a long speech in regard to it. The amendment was opposed by the government and if it had been carried they would have resigned.

While it was expected that the government would be sustained, it was not thought the majority would have been as large as it proved to be.
