Celebrating King's Birthday.

Today we celebrate the 59th birthday of King George. It is not a general holiday in the sense that Victoria Day or Christmas Day are holidays but it is kept by the banks and government offcies and we are reminded once more that we are citizens of a great empire and that in addition to our duties as Canadians we have the larger duties as Britishers.

Everyone Wanted To See Prince Rupert.

"Of course everyone is interested in the terminus of a great railway system," declared one of the newspaper editors here early Monday morning when they passed through on the belated trip southbound to the big convention in Vancouver. "We all looked forward to seeing your city and we are very much disappointed that we are not able to do so."

"Can't we see the harbor as we pass out?" asked another of the newspapermen. Unfortunately the night was black as Hades and even that was not possible. The point is that all these big men in the newspaper world look on Prince Rupert as a city in the making and they want to see it so that they may be in touch with the trend of events.

Need Right Man To Handle Question.

There is just one man who thoroughly understands the freight rates question and who is able to carry the war into the enemy's lines and make his influence felt in the East. That man is John Oliver, present premier of British Columbia. He has put up a good fight already and would have done better had it not been necessary for him to waste his time defending himself against P.G.E. charges brought against him by General McRae and his associates. The way to have the good work continue is to vote the Oliver candidates back into power. No other man ever had the prestige in the East and on the prairies that Farmer John Oliver today has. It would be a suicidal policy to stop his work just as he is meeting with success.

Pattullo And Immigration.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo says he believes in immigration and he has already busied himself in getting the tide of immigration into this country started. Frank Dockrill is reported to have stated at Terrace that he was opposed to immigration until such time as the farmers now on the land were able to get a better living and until better marketing conditions were arranged.

It is scarcely necessary to argue between the two. Everyone knows that if we have population we shall have better railway service, better marketing conditions, better social conditions on the farms, better schools, better everything. More people to co-operate with the people now here means more prestige, more political power, more development and growth for the west.

When the early settlers came to this country they found it very difficult to live. They had very few of the what we call necessities of life and no luxuries. That was because there were so few of them. As the country filled up it developed, and living conditions improved. With the advent of another million people we shall begin to get in a position where we can command better living conditions. The policy of isolation is one to be avoided.

"Liver Trouble so Severe I Had to Quit Work"
Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes:
"I was a great sufferer from enlargement of the liver for ten months, and finally I had to quit work. I would wake up in the mornings with a bitter taste in my mouth, had frequent headaches, yellow complexion, and pain in my right side, and between the shoulder blades. It was almost unbearable, and terribly weakening. I could not sleep at night and my heart also bothered me. But the whole trouble has now left me, thanks to that wonderful medicine, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."
