IMPEACH POLICE BY COVER CARTOON.

The cover design on the current number of Leslie's Weekly, a New York publication with a large Canadian circulation, is not only repulsive and indecent, but it is dangerous. It portrays a gorilla, garbed in the uniform of a policeman, bearing a nude figure symbolic of vice and crime. The inscription under the cartoon is not necessary to convey the meaning intended, that crime is flourishing under the protection of the police.

New York and the whole world has been startled by the recent disclosures regarding the affairs of the metropolitan police department, and no doubt the illustration was intended to have only a local meaning, but there is nothing on the drawing or embodied in the inscription to convey this idea.

Every man wearing the uniform of law and order in every portion of the American continent, from the lone constable in the village to the chief of a mighty city, must feel the impeachment made against his honor; his wife and family cannot but feel the implied insinuation that father or brother is a criminal in the worst sense of the word. The harmful effect of such pictures on the weak minds of those ready and willing to commit crime, but lacking the moral courage to do so, cannot be overestimated. Many a crime has been perpetrated because another offense had been committed. Thomas Nast, the great cartoonist, spoke truly when he said: "One picture, cleverly drawn, can convey more meaning at a single glance, to some persons, than a book of a thousand pages."

It is the duty of every right minded citizen to aid in every way possible the maintenance of law and order and assist in suppressing those men who war against society, and it is to be hoped that no publication of the standing of Leslie's Weekly will again lay such an impeachment on the police of America.

WILL SEEK TREASURE IN A SUNKEN VESSEL

Ellensburg, Wash., Sept. 19.—"Uncle Joe" Morrell, of Ellensburg, sole survivor of the ship Golden Gate, which burned and sank off Manzanillo, Mexico, in 1864 with over $2,000,000 in California gold on board, has just received a letter from a San Francisco syndicate asking certain details of the wreck and the bearings of the spot where the Golden Gate sank.

The letter carried the information that sufficient money to raise the wreck had been subscribed and that an expedition soon would be fitted out.

Morrell was promised a liberal share of the gold in return for his information, should the expedition prove successful.

HOUSE OF LORDS IS ATTACKED AS HEREDITARY INCOMPETENTS BY HON. JOSEPH MARTIN, M.P.

Hon. Joseph Martin ("Fighting Joe") for a brief interval premier of the British Columbia government, for many years a prominent lawyer in the Royal City, and now a representative in the British House of Commons, addressed a large gathering at New Westminster last Friday night on the issues of the British political campaign and its effect upon Canada.

Attacks the Lords.

Prior to taking up the three important campaign issues of home rule, Welsh disestablishment and the new Franchise Act, Hon. Mr. Martin referred to the House of Lords as being an institution harboring hereditary incompetents, who were not fit to legislate for the simplest measure in the government of the country, to say nothing of revising the measures made legal by the House of Commons when such was within their power. It was the purpose of the Liberal party in England to abolish the House of Lords and then if the necessity for a second chamber was made necessary the same would be elected by a vote of the people in the same manner as any democratic and sane government should.

"To allow the state to continue in interfering with the affairs of the church is a practice which the Liberals of England most strenuously opposed," said the speaker, "and the Tory party is combating us strongly in our proposal to take away the established church of Wales." The condition of affairs in this connection, he alleged, was a disgrace as the old method of meeting expense incurred by the ecclesiastics by levying tithes, and the method of appointing the officials of the church through the prime minister was sadly in need of uprooting.

Mr. Martin was sure that more than half of the Liberal and Conservative of Canada were in accord with the home rule bill, which it was proposed to bring before the House shortly. This measure had been badly misrepresented, but in spite of that fact, the opposition to it was only a very small percentage of the population of Ireland. "Four counties in the northeast portion of Ulster," said he, "are practically the only hostile districts, and their voices will be lost in the overwhelming majority which is certain to be forthcoming from the other constituencies of the island. Ulsterites are constituted of members of the Roman Catholic Church and Orangemen, so it is quite natural that a difference of opinion should take place.

Ridiculous Reports.

"The report that Ulster intended to fight was ridiculous, as, if such a thought was contemplated for a moment, they would have to begin on their neighbors. The home rule measure will be passed by the House of Commons," he concluded, "and the seal of the King attached. If the Ulsterites then revolt their act will be treason, as are the statements made by Bonar Law, the Unionist leader, in inciting the rebel move."

Before concluding, he touched briefly on the new franchise, or suffragette, question in England, declaring himself as strongly in favor of the demands of the ladies.

INDIAN CHIEFS WILL BE PRESENTED TO DUKE

Chiefs of the various Indian tribes of North Vancouver are to be presented to the Duke of Connaught upon the occasion of his visit to that municipality. They will also have an opportunity of presenting an address to him.

Indian Agent Byrne reports that excellent progress is being made by the Indians in the matter of preparing an address of loyalty. An Indian triumphant arch at Victoria Park was commenced on Monday morning.

REFLECTIONS OF BACHELOR GIRL

(By Helen Rowland)

Before marriage a man's idea of a house motto is "Rest in Peace"; after marriage it is "Gates Ajar."

The saddest thing about a divorce is that it usually results in two more unhappy marriages.

Nowadays when a girl marries it means settling down, giving up her wild ways, her club, her bachelor girl friends and her bridge parties—in short, doing everything possible to make herself worthy of a pure, sweet man.

When Satan hears the average man decanting on the high moral standard for women he doesn't say anything—just grins.

A man's home should be his heaven, and every man's idea of "heaven" is a place where he is simply left alone and allowed to loiter around, smoke and make himself comfortable—a sort of a post-mortem rest cure, where he can go after he has finished having a good time in life and is tired of everything else.

Plato's philosophy has enticed more men into matrimony than all of Cupid's arrows. A man can see an arrow coming and dodge it, but platonic friendship strikes him in the dark.

Every man divides girls into four classes; the girl he loves; the girl he has loved; the girl he has not loved—and the girl he never will love.

In marriage a man usually seeks an ideal—with an accent on the "I."

One would fancy that the teeth must be attached to the heart strings from the way in which women are continually falling in love with their dentists.

A man sometimes has to keep his conscience lubricated with alcohol, so that it won't grate on his finer feelings.

BUZZERS IN BARS NO LONGER ALLOWED

War has been declared by the License department of the Province of Ontario upon electric bells, buzzers and other signals by which the offending hotel keeper protects himself against the visits of police and license officers while doing an after hours trade.

The word "obstruction" in the liquor license act will hereafter apply to any device by which warning can be given.

A conviction secured in a test case in Owen Sound has been upheld by the higher court. Another conviction with a fine of $400 has been secured at Windsor.

Quite Simple.

"My grandfather," said the new neighbor, who was making a duty call, "was a great portrait painter. With one stroke he could change a smiling face into a sad one."

"Huh!" exclaimed small Johnny, who happened to be in the parlor. "Our teacher can do that."

According to H. J. Johnson, superintendent of immigration agencies, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan are securing almost the entire body of immigrants to Western Canada, while British Columbia scarcely assimilates any of the newcomers.

Easy.
