HON. DR. KING DEFENDS PRINCE RUPERT

AUSTRALIAN ELECTION CAMPAIGN TO DEAL WITH UNAUTHORIZED STRIKE

Defends Spending Money on Port of Prince Rupert

Hon. J. H. King tells Vancouver people this will become outlet for Peace River country some day

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19.—Following a custom, which he has established during the present election campaign, Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works in the Mackenzie King government, spoke a good word for Prince Rupert yesterday in the course of an address before the Laurier Club in the Hotel Vancouver. Dr. King was the guest of honor on that occasion and he took advantage of the opportunity to defend expenditure of the country's money in developing the port of Prince Rupert. He said the government was amply justified in its action. Some day Prince Rupert would be the outlet for the Peace River country.

Discussing the possibility of establishing an iron and steel industry on the coast, Dr. King said the time was ripe for this work and he promised federal aid to any reasonable and fair proposal of this nature.

Election in Australia to be Fought Over Question of the Supremacy of Their Parliament

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 19.— A general election is pending in Australia, the Prime Minister last night announced. Parliament will be dissolved shortly, and it is probable the election will take place on November 14.

The seamen's strike, which is not authorized by the unions to which the men belong and which is demoralizing the shipping of Australia, seems likely to be an issue in the general election campaign. Premier Bruce says the issue is whether Australia is to be governed by parliament under a democratic constitutional form of government or whether their authority is to be flouted by irresponsible extremists attempting to abrogate to themselves an autocratic dictatorship over the country.

Fair at Terrace Growing to Keep Pace with Development That Very Fertile District

TERRACE, Sept. 19.—While as yet official returns have not been made up, owing to the illness of Secretary J. B. Agar, Morse Hatt, president of the Terrace Fall Fair Association, is confident that the 1925 Fal Fair was even more successful, financially, than last year. Splendid weather conditions prevailed throughout the day and a large corwd turned out to view the exhibits.

The large room on the lower floors of the G.W.V.A. Hall was filled to the doors with a display of vegetables, field roots, grains and grasses, etc., which certainly reflect great credit on the growers and acclaim the soil in this district very well suited to the growing of these products. So large was the display, and so keen was the competition, that it was 2 p.m. before the judging was finished and the hall open to the public.

Probably the display of tree fruits in the auditorium upstairs did not equal that of last year, owing to the fact that the fruit crop this year was seriously depleted by late spring frosts. however, there was a good display and what was shown was of a very high order and demonstrates beyond a doubt that this is a real fruit growing district.

A profusion of cut flowers, very artistically arranged, covered one table the full length of the long hall and almost every kind and color of flower one could call to mind was there exhibited.

In the home cooking department the Terrace housewives demonstrated their skill in the culinary art to great advantage and the tables looked very tempting indeed.

There was a small display of needlework, very good in quality, but in no way demonstrating the ability of the ladies along this line, and it is to be hoped that in another year more interest will be taken in this section.

A display of school work sent in by Dome Creek School took away some prizes from the local youngsters, but the home school made a very good showing.

Mineral exhibits proved quite an attraction, while photography, paper work, wood carving, etc., were also on display.

Outside, poultry, Belgian hares, swine and cattle were exhibited in their several classes. While the entries in swine and cattle were not numerous they go to show that the country is gradually being stocked with a good grade of stock, and each year should see this section of the fair greatly improving.

Under fair board management, luncheon, in the form of a bean feast, was served on the main floor of the building and was well patronized. Afternoon tea was also served and a grand ball in the evening wound up the day. Music was furnished by Mrs. Attwood's four piece orchestra and a very large crowd danced until the wee sma' hours. Lunch was served at midnight by the fair board.
