COLORFUL PICTURE

"The Reluctant Dragon" Is Week-End Feature At Capitol Theatre

An outright animated comedy spun in pure fancy and projected in technicolor, "The Reluctant Dragon," one of the most spectacular of moving picture productions, comes as the feature offering to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this Friday and Saturday.

In it is brought to the screen by Walt Disney Kenneth Grahame's yarn of the English countryside the story of a dragon that lived in a cave and terrified all folk about. The basis is the mythical story in English history of St. George and the dragon.

Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Donald and Clara Duck, Pluto and Goofy and other of Disney's animated creations are worked into the story as well, of course, as the dragon himself, Sir Giles and The Boy. With these airy creatures are interspersed human actors with the popular Robert Benchley playing a prominent and novel part. Walt Disney himself is also seen as well as pretty Frances Gifford and many beautiful girls.

"The Reluctant Dragon" is one of those pictures that has been generally awaited and expectations are that large crowds will be out to see it.

Garbo Dances, Gets Her Man

Swedish Star Thaws Out and Does the "Chica Choca."

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23: (AP)—Greta Garbo is dancing in the movies but she's done it before. Remember her mazurka in "Conquest?" And she has been seen on other movie dance floors.

But all that pales before the rug-cutting, jive-sequence in the "Two-Faced Woman." The icy Swedish beauty thaws into a torrid hepcat. She really gets in the groove. Her role is a dual one: that of twin sisters. One is athletic and wind-blown; the other, Garbo-glamorous.

Masquerading as her dancing sister, the apple-cheeked Garbo is challenged by her rival in love, Constance Bennett, to do her stuff. Garbo begins slowly, gets hotter and hotter, and winds up acclaimed as the creator of a new dance "Chica Choca." She also gets her man.

Hospital Matron Is Raid Heroine

Marjorie Stepnall, Who Saved Staff, Has Been Awarded An M. B. E.

LONDON, October 23: (AP)—Heroism of Miss Marjorie Stepnall, matron of the Royal Eye Hospital, saved the hospital and staff when it was bombed in a heavy raid on London last May. Miss Stepnall has just been honored by citation as a member of the order of the British Empire.

She directed operations of the fire fighting party from an iron bridge until it was demolished by high explosives. Though injured she managed to extricate herself from the debris.

Then she dragged her car from the blazing garage and salvaged hospital equipment. Despite danger of falling walls she entered the hospital frequently. Only when every patient was comfortably resettled in a convent, with blankets she had risked her life to get, did Miss Stepnall consent to go to a hospital herself for treatment.

Whifflets
From The Waterfront

Prince Rupert cannery of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd., the final salmon cannery to remain in operation this season, is closing down this week-end as far as salmon packing is concerned. The plant will be changing over to machinery to pack herring when those fish begin to run in quantity, possibly around December, although last winter it was considerably later.

Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Coast, making her first call here in some time, arrived in port at 4 o'clock this morning from Alaska and, after discharging frozen fish for transshipment east over Canadian National Railways, sailed early this afternoon in continuation of her voyage to Seattle.

Cases of Abel Angus, Albert McKay and Samuel Doolan, Kincolith Indians, charged with illegal fishing for salmon on the Naas River during closed season, are booked to come up this afternoon before Stipendiary Magistrate W. D. Vance. W. O. Fulton is acting for the crown and T. W. Brown is representing cannery interests which own the boats involved.

Loch Ness Beast Comes Up for War

INVERNESS, Scotland, Oct. 23: (AP)—The Loch Ness monster, which has appeared to holidaymakers off and on since 1933, popped into view again this summer for the first time since the war started.

J. Macfarlane-Barrow and his three children were out on the loch in a dinghy when they sighted the creature. It broke surface near Glendoe Pier and remained in view for 10 minutes. They said it had "a long, snaky neck and 15 to 18 feet of body, shaped rather like an upturned boat. One of the children said "it raced up and down across the loch as if it was really in high spirits."
