PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

Prince Rupert Gyro Club to Carry On This Year Although Scale Curtailed

The Prince Rupert Gyro Club will carry on supervised playground activities again this summer on the various playgrounds around the city although, in view of various conditions, it will be on a somewhat curtailed basis. The report of the playground committee, setting forth the season's plans, was presented to the Gyro Club at its business luncheon on Wednesday by Frank Skinner, chairman of the playground committe, and was approved.

Supervision will be carried out by four instructresses during the months of July.

The city is being requested to assist in connection with playground maintenance work and the Gyro Club expects to spend $570 on the year's program.

Other business dealt with at Wednesday's Gyro Club meeting included consideration of an application for endorsement of Max Asemissen's application for federal priorities permit covering the construction of a $500,000 apartment hotel, the endorsement being given.

With President George L. Rorie in the chair, there was a good attendance at the luncheon. Guests were Dugald Campbell of Vancouver and C. H. Orme and W. O. Fulton
