JAPANESE POST RULES OF ROAD

TOKIO, Aug. 27.— While the automobiles used in Japan are, for the most part, of American make, existing traffic rules can be said to be more completely Japanese. In one of Japan's largest police stations there is posted on a bulletin board the following "Suggestions of the Road":

1—At the rise of the hand policeman, stop rapidly.

2—Do not pass policeman or otherwise disrespect him.

3—When a passenger of the foot heave in sight, tootle horn; trumpet at him, melodiously first, but if he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with vigor, and express by word of mouth the warning, "Hi, Hi."

4—Beware the wandering horse, that he shall not take fright as you pass him by; do not explode an exhaust blow at him. Go soothingly by.

5—Give big space to the festive dog that shall sport in the roadway.

6—Avoid entanglements of the dog with the wheel spokes.

7—Go soothingly on the grease mud, as there lurks the skid demon. Tie on weed chains on to kill the demon.

8—Press the brakes of the foot as you roll around the corner to save collapse and tie-up.

FARMERS WILL BRING ISSUE IN U. S. ELECTION

Bitter Battle Expected But Coolidge May Force His Own Nomination

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 27.—(By Canadian Press).—All the signs are that the struggle between the agricultural industry in this country and the political leaders and industrial and financial forces that are indifferent to agriculture or hostile to it, is going to be fought out. The present outlook is that the next two years will see a bitter battle or series of battles. These will not be confined to Congress.

It now looks almost impossible to keep the agricultural issue out of the 1928 presidential campaign. The only things that would keep this issue out of 1928 presidential politics would be the enactment in the meantime of legislation satisfactory to the farmers or such a degree of agricultural prosperity as would lessen greatly the demands of the farmers for relief action by Congress.

Hard Fight Predicted

Of course, if the agricultural question is carried into the presidential campaign, it will mean that President Coolidge will encounter a hard fight for renomination. Mr. Coolidge has lost strength with many farmers since 1924. Lowden, Watson, Borah and others will seek the nomination. If Coolidge forces his own renomination, it will be because the man in the White House, or his aides, can usually dominate the political machinery of the southern states, certain far-western states and much of the east.

To put the matter in another way, in spite of agricultural opposition to Mr. Coolidge, based on the fact he has not favored farm relief legislation such as sought by the farm organizations, it may very well happen that he will get enough delegates from the industrial east and from southern and far-western states — organization controlled—to nominate him. Some of the Coolidge supporters think this, and they also think the Democrats will nominate Governor "Al" Smith and that Coolidge is stronger than Smith.

Increased Demand

It does not seem possible that the agricultural controversy can be settled in the near future. It is more likely to run on for years. Representative Dickinson of Iowa, a farm group leader, just in from the west, says there is increased demand among the farmers for helpful legislation. The fight, he says, will be renewed next session of Congress. However, he realizes nothing is likely to be done then, as it will be a three-month session, and that there will be delay until the winter and spring of 1927 and 1928. Then the Old Guard leaders are expected to wage warfare on agricultural legislation, just as they have in the past session.

"Ypres"

(WIPERS)

The story of the immortal salient. Produced in England, passed and approved by H. M. Army Council, this stupendous motion picture reveals for the first time the glorious record of the Canadian Contingent at the front in the great World War. An epic in Canada's history showing how her sons bared their breasts to the enemy for four long years, depicting feats of collective and individual heroism that will live for ever in the minds of all peoples. They marched down the higways of France with a song on their lips and a prayer in their hearts, and they left a record that will be indelibly inscribed on the Scroll of Time. Ypres, Gheluvelt, Hill 60, Messines Ridge, Passchendaele, names to conjure with; His Majesty's visit to the troops, the famous Cloth Hall and many scenes and incidents are shown faithfully to the minutest detail. A picture every person in the Dominion should see.
