Mayors ask for NHA rule addition

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was asked today to write a "no discrimination" clause into all mortgages guaranteed under the National Housing Act.

The request came from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, which referred to a number of recent incidents in which some persons have been refused housing accommodation because of their race, origin or creed.

The federation said in a brief to the cabinet that prohibition against discrimination should be made in all transactions under which housing is financed within the NHA framework and by loans from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the brief added.

An NHA amendment was urged to give CMHC power to investigate such incidents and, where attempts at settlement fail, to hold up loan payments, refuse further loans or guarantees to the offender, or take the offender to court.

LOW CLOUD forms as fog lifts from the foot of the mountains behind in the city after the early morning sun warms the air.
