Some wedding rings are made by melting the gold into a mould. These are apt to have bubbles and be somewhat soft.

Others are made by bending a strip of gold and joining the ends.

We sell the seamless kind, hammered from one solid piece of gold. These are firm and hard and will wear much longer.

Prices from $6.50 to $15.00.

REGRET OVER S. K. CAMPBELL LEAVING CITY

Harry Birch Appointed Delegate to Convention in September

Expressions of genuine regret were voiced at the regular meeting of the hospital board last night when the resignation of S. K. Campbell, president of the board, was received. Mr. Campbell, who has been promoted to an inspectorship in the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will leave for the south on Saturday of this week. J. H. Thompson, vice-president of the board, was in the chair at last night's meeting and those present included Directors G. P. Tinker, S. D. Johnstone, Mrs. Morrissey and Leo Waugh and Secretary Harry Birch.

Mr. Birch was appointed delegate to the convention of the B.C. Hospitals' Association which will be held in Vancouver in September. It was announced that it had been decided to pool the expenses of all delegates. This will lighten the cost of sending a delegation from Prince Rupert to this convention which it was originally intended to hold here.

On account of the overcrowding that has been experienced during the past few months in the present accommodation at the hospital, it was decided to kalsomine and equip with beds the ward in the basement so that it may be ready for use in case of emergency.

An expenditure not to exceed $100 was authorized for the new walk to the Nurses' Home which will be built by the city.

Mrs. R. F. Perry left on Tuesday for Taft, California, to visit her daughter. She expects to be away about two months.

DUCHESS DECLARES EXAMINATIONS ARE SIMPLY MILESTONES

Should Leave Clear Standards of Honor and Truth on Leaving School.

LONDON, Aug. 19. — College examinations are to be regarded as milestones along the road of educational progress. Education is something very different from cramming—the main thing is to keep along the road of educational advancement.

These opinions were forthcoming from the Duchess of Atholl, M.P., Under-Secretary of Education, when she presented prizes at Manchester Girls' High School. The Duchess went on to cite Ruskin's definition of education as being "to make people not only do the right things, but enjoy the right things, not merely industrious but to love industry, not merely learned but to love knowledge, not merely pure but to love purity, not merely just but to hunger and thirst after justice."

The Duchess remarked that the training they received in their school ought to enable the students to go out into the world with clear standards of honor and truth and of consideration for others.

She thought that Ruskin's words, "We should love industry" had a special significance today, when, through bad trade, there was so much unemployment. It might well happen that young people leaving school could not always find just the kind of work they had most wished for. If that should happen to any of those she was addressing she would ask them not to be ashamed of taking up any other kind of work.

INTIMACIES OF NEW YORK CITY

Delicatessen Shops Develop Into Restaurants; Noon Day Dancing Club; Elephants and Birds

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—The old fashioned New York delicatessen where a single table was provided for the occasional patron to sit down and eat his salami on the premises has grown until a dozen delicatessens rival the finest restaurants.

These places are not located in the lower East Side, but are in the heart of the theatrical and "social register residence" districts.

The customary plan is to have a large and often ornate restaurant behind the delicatessen shop. Walking through the front, one is met at the back by a head waiter who might have presided over Delmonico's, and is confronted with a menu whose prices are anything but bashful.

At luncheon time the delicatessen restaurants usually are the entertainment places for salesmen and theatrical men. Dinner is a negligible trade, but after theatre suppers bring the profits. Many patrons drop in immediately after the theatre, while another large group habitually visits them about 3 a.m., after the supper clubs have closed.

Eating is not a popular sport in supper clubs, but several hours of dancing whet appetites early in the morning and then the delicatessens thrive. One of these at Fifty-eighth Street or the East Side is noted as the meeting place for celebrities from all divisions of the theatrical, motion picture and political fields.

The piece d'resistance is a "cannibal sandwich," of raw meats and onion, though it is doubtful if one of these could be given a patron in daylight hours.

Girls' private schools so abound in New York that it seems there must be a school for every girl, but the plentitude of pupils is demonstrated by the new homes being erected by two of them this summer.

These schools for the most part cluster around Riverside Drive and adjacent streets, usually occupying old residences. Like other private schools, they often are specialized. Some train only the girls of kindergarten age, while others give the "finishing" touches to debutantes or prepare them for college.

The daytime palace of pleasure is the New Yorker's latest contribution to the science of living life as it was never intended to be. Broadway now boasts a magnificent "polar-ized" noontide dancing club, where the dauntless ones may be seen daily under a silk tent and spinning irridescent ball, dividing their lunch hours between the quickened respirations of the dance floor and the un-hurried imbibitions of the side tables.

Bird boarding is a remunerative department of one pet shop here where as many as one hundred birds are kept during the summer season at a charge of one dollar a week.

Khartoum, largest of the elephants in the Bronx zoo, is a kind-hearted creature—but he is misunderstood. Last year he conceived the benevolent idea of sharing his bath with the hot humans who came to watch his ablutions. Those whom he sprayed with trunksful of water, however, were unappreciative, so this season finds a huge plate-glass screen erected between his cage and the gaping public.

Crashing past a park traffic sign a visitor paused at the far curb to give a hard-boiled policeman something new in alibis: "Sorry, officer, but I'm color blind—your lights mean nothing to me, and a trip down Park Avenue for me is the same as navigating Buzzards' Bay channel with all shore lights gone out."

One man in every eight is said to be color blind, with red and green not registering at all in his eyes.

Even history is not safe from the exploiting ingenuity of advertisers here, who, in the hair dressing business, have capitalized the story of Madame Godiva.

Madame Godiva was the wife of a Venetian doge, who rode through the streets of the city covered only by her long and beautiful hair, which her husband made the only condition under which he would lighten the tax burden of his subjects.

Statuettes of this historic figure now herald the habitant of permanent wave shops.

MANY AMERICANS VISITING ENGLAND

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Stops off on Way to Geneva

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 19. — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, accompanied by her brother, Richard W. Bolling, of Washington, was among 1500 Americans who disembarked from the Leviathan here. The widow of the former President will visit England before proceeding to Geneva to attend the annual assembly of the League of Nations opening on September 2.

The President Harding, which has arrived at Plymouth, carried a delegation of 45 American professors who are guests of the Carnegie Foundation, all experts on international law and foreign relations. The party is under the leadership of Prof. H. H. Haskell of New York, and includes educators from all parts of the United States. They landed at Cherbourg and will visit Paris and The Hague en route to Geneva, where they will study the activities of the Secretariat of the League of Nations and attend lectures and discussions on international subjects. Later they will visit England, sailing from here in September.

Eighteen young women teachers from Britain sailed on the Empress of Scotland for Canada where they are to be trained at Regina, Sask., for work in the prairie schools. Addressing them before their departure, L. C. M. S. Amery, the Colonial Secretary, said they were proceeding upon a truly imperial mission to foster "ideals of good citizenship and of loyalty to Canada and to the empire of which Canada is one of great pillars."

ITALY TO SPEND $20,000,000 ON NEW TELEPHONE SERVICE

Long Distance Communication to be Aided by Series of Underground Cables

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Italy's long distance telephone communications are to be modernized by the installation of underground cables connecting the principal cities, under a contract just concluded by the Italian government with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation through its affiliated Italian operating company, it was announced here.

Four units of new cable, it is planned, will entend from Naples through Rome, Perugia, Florence, Bologna, Padua and Venice to Trieste, and connect these cities through Bologna with Casteggio, a small town on the route of the existing Milan-Turin-Genoa cable. A fifth new unit from Milan to Simplon will connect all these exchanges with western Europe at the Italian-Swiss border. The installation will extend over a period of five years. The value of the contract, at the present rate of exchange, is said to be $20,000,000.

All Nerves!

All nerves! What a common expression! In this busy era with the problems of home management, club activities, and even political affairs crowding her day, how often the housewife complains of nervousness, headache, backache and general fatigue.

These symptoms of ill-feeling are often due to strained eye muscles and nerves which can be relieved by properly fitted glasses.
