CELEBRATION AT KITWANGA

Five Hundred Natives Gather There For Impressive Opening of New Church Hall

At least five hundred natives from all surrounding villages gathered at the native village of Kitwanga on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week for the occasion of the opening of the new Church of England hall according to Archdeacon G. A. Rix who himself returned from there on this morning's train.

Almost continuous evangelistic meetings were held and the proceedings were enlivened by the presence of native bands and the really remarkable singing of the choirs from the various villages. Feasts were provided daily at the head chief's house, as many as 150 guests sitting down at times. The whole village was decorated with arches upon which were scriptural texts and flags were to be seen everywhere. The new hall itself was finely decorated with evergreens, flowers and flags.

The proceedings were under the supervision of Rev. T. D. Proctor of Hazelton who is doing exceptionally good work among the natives of his district as well as among the white people. The dedication of the hall was carried out along the most dramatic lines, Archdeacon Rix performing this ceremony and afterwards giving the dedicatory address.

The natives of Kitwanga and Mr. Proctor, Archdeacon Rix declares, are to be congratulated on having completed and practically paid for the fine hall which would cost, if contracted for, at least $3,000. It is a commodious building and well built, capable of seating about five hundred people.

HALIBUT FISHERY FACES EXTINCTION

So Says Investigator Who Carried Out Research Work Here During Past Season

Experts in the halibut fishery, so important a maritime industry to British Columbia, were assured by Dr. W. F. Thompson, head of the International Fisheries Commission at a meeting of the Pacific Fisheries Society in Seattle recently, that the halibut was threatened with extinction.

Dr. Thompson, who is president of the body, told the delegates, who included Dr. C. McLean Fraser, of the University of B.C., and Dr. W. A. Clemens, of the Departure Bay Biological Station, that an alarming decrease would be shown when the investigation into the fishery banks off this coast and Alaska had been completed. The effect of this decrease was to compel the fishery concerns to move westward and northward from the original banks, he declared.

Dr. Thompson worked out of Prince Rupert on halibut research during the past season.
