DADS AND SONS GET TOGETHER

PLEASANT AND PROFITABLE EVENING AT UNITED CHURCH LAST NIGHT

Over eighty persons were present at the fathers' and sons' banquet held last evening in the United Church. The delicious repast, which was served by the older boys and men, and a delightful program afterwards, were fully enjoyed. Bruce Stevens made an excellent chairman and called on the various members of the company for their contributions to the evening's program.

Rev. G. G. Hacker, in making a short address, referred to the observance of father and son week and spoke of the co-operation of the boys and parents in the boys' work. During the next two weeks, he announced, special programs for boys and girls would be given in the church on Sunday. This week the young people's service would be taken by the girls as the boys had had charge of the service last year. The girls were also holding a banquet on Friday next. He welcomed the older ones to this annual event and hoped all would enter into the spirit of the occasion and feel young again.

Dr. W. T. Kergin spoke of the work which was being accomplished today for the youth and expressed the opinion that nothing more important could be undertaken by the church. He had noticed a large increase in the attendance at this annual supper which was a hopeful sign. The doctor then gave to the gathering a very interesting description of his recent trip to California and referred to many things which he had seen which were of particular interest to the boys. He was in California when George Young successfully swam Santa Catalina Channel and was particularly well pleased to learn of the success of this Canadian youth. George Young had later appeared at a local theatre and the doctor had tried to secure seats but found that they had all been sold out for the week. The doctor read George Young's advice to the boys of the country as printed in the Boy Scouts' Magazine. Referring to his trip, he spoke of attending a meeting of a service club where he had listened to a very remarkable address by a New York business man on the boy problem. The speaker had referred to the great interest which business men seemed to be taking in the subject of proper training for boys.

THE PROGRAM

The program for the evening included a dialogue by Rupert Ross and Roger Obata; recitations by Charlie Stuart and F. Derry; instrumental numbers by Clifford Cameron, and James and Wisner Bryant, and a vocal solo by J. S. Wilson. The toast to the fathers was proposed by Bronson Hunt and was responded to by L. W. Patmore. The company was treated to a debate on the subject: "Resolved that the boys of today are superior to the boys of the past generation." The affirmative was supported by Eddie Anderson, R. Irvine and Bruce Stevens, while the past generation (the fathers' side) was upheld by J. S. Irvine, Geo. Johnston and P. H. Linzey.

After the tables were removed an exhibition of physical work was put on Eddie Smith, Will Patmore and Rudolph Nelson after which the gathering adjourned to the gymnasium where an exhibition basket ball game was staged between the fathers and sons and, although no official score was recorded, the fathers felt that they had upheld the traditions of the previous generation.

The whole evening's program which lasted until about 10.30 was of great interest to the many fathers who were present in addition to the many youthful members who were glad of their dad's company. The gathering was larger than in previous years and showed the great interest taken in the boys' different organizations by those who have become interested in their program.

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household---every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare---should make a habit of reading the ads.

Read the advertisements in order to buy wisely
