8 Cards of Thanks

We wish to sincerely thank our many friends and all those who have so kindly expressed their sympathy to us in the loss of our dearest wife, mother, and grandmother. We also extend our grateful thanks to Rev. Dr. R. W. K. Elliott for his comforting words and to Dr. A. W. Large, Dr. R. B. Smith, and the staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital for their loving care during her illness.
Mr. A. G. Brain and family. (189)

9 In Memoriam

HELIN— In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, Henry William Helin, who passed away in Prince Rupert on September 28, 1958.
"Many a day his name is spoken,
Many an hour he is in our thoughts,
A link in our family chain is broken,
He has gone from our home, but not from our hearts."
Sadly missed and always remembered by his loving wife, Maude, and family. (189)

Blackwood on BRIDGE

In the mind of many players there seems to be an awful tigma attached to the leading of a card which enables declarer to ruff in one hand while discarding a loser from the other.

Usually when this comes up, there is nothing you can do about it. Declarer has just played the hand well. Occasionally, however, as in today's deal, there is something you can do. You can count.

Mrs. Keen led the queen of hearts and it was ducked all around. Next came the jack of hearts, dummy and Mr. Abel played low and Mr. Dale ruffed.

He laid down the ace of diamonds and got the bad news when Mrs. Keen discarded a spade. Now he had a sure trump loser, he had already lost a heart, and apparently there was a club loser unless he got a very lucky break in that suit, like finding one opponent with the queen-jack doubleton.

Mr. Dale

He proceeded as follows: He cashed the king of diamonds, the king of spades, then led the queen of spades to dummy's ace. Next he ruffed dummy's last heart and followed with a trump lead to put Mr. Abel in with the queen.

Mr. Abel looked sad. It appeared to him that if he returned a spade or a heart, Mr. Dale would ruff in dummy and discard a club from his hand. He was right. That is what Mr. Dale would have done. But it would not have helped him at all.

The point is, Mr. Abel should have known that.

All he had to do was to count the hand. The fall of the cards had told him that Mr. Dale had started with exactly six diamonds and one heart. By inference, he had started with two spades. This was based on the fact that he had played the queen and ace of spades on one trick. If he had held another card in the suit he would have played it differently, since his obvious interition was to strip out both majors before putting Mr. Abel on lead.

On this reasoning, Mr. Dale had four cards in clubs and therefore the sluff of one club from either the closed hand or dummy would give him no advantage.
