RUGGED BATTLE WITH THE PUCK

Cubs and Buckaroos Divide Points at Victoria Last Night

VICTORIA, Dec. 19. — The Cubs and Portland Buckaroos divided points in the Pacific coast hockey game here last night. Although ten minutes overtime was played the teams failed to settle the argument and the game ended two-all. It was a rugged battle with an assortment of mediocre, thrilling and hair raising hockey. The second period, in which the Cubs evened their score with their second tally, produced the finest hockey seen here this season, both teams setting and maintaining a whirlwind pace throughout. Plenty of heavy checking injested in the play. The Cubs scored their first goal in the first period and the Buckaroos their two.

J. A. Macdonald, provincial government auditor, Victoria, who is making an inspection tour of the government offices throughout the province, has arrived in the city and is at the government office here.

SPORT CHAT

High school girls' and boys' basketball teams are to be busy during the forthcoming Christmas and New Year holiday fortnight. The girls are to make a trip to Anyox, under the leadership of Miss Mills, to play two games and the Anyox girls will come here for two games — a series which should prove interesting to all the fans of the hoop game in town. The boys are to go to Terrace and Smithers, and, possibly, return matches will later be played here.

Sankovitch, Passaic, N.J., heavyweight, was one of the most crestfallen boxers in fistiana last week. He floored George Gemas, veteran Philadelphia war horse, three times in the first round of their bout at Newark and was all set to let the finishing haymaker go when Gemas brought one up from his shoestrings and knocked out Sankovitch The latter was unconscious for two minutes.

Around The World With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

That battle at the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada annual meeting at Port Arthur and the subsequent armistice will be beneficial to amateur sport throughout Canada. Dirty linen has been washed—and washed—not behind closed doors, but out in the open, and flung to the breeze to dry. If there has been rancor and acrimony it has all been laundered out, let us hope, and a better understanding arrived at all around. There is nothing to be gained by nursing grievances in such an organization as the A. A. U. of C. The whole trouble seemed to centre around the protest entered over the defeat of Fanny Rosenfeld by Betty Robinson, a representative of the U. S. On the broad principle of good sportsmanship it is inadvisable to protest when beaten, but there are extenuating circumstances at times, and when one feels that there has been deliberate discrimination it is notunwise, for the good of sport itself, to make objection in the prescribed and sportsmanlike way. But the matter of that protest only served to drag other more trivial matters into the discussion, and the whole unfortunate incident gathered momentum, as it were, until the final blow-off at Port Arthur. There is no doubt that the debate at the annual meeting will serve to clear the atmosphere, and prove generally beneficial. Judge Jackson of Lethbridge, ex-president of the A. A. U. of C., was the influence, as chairman of the "Peace Conference," that brought about the final satisfactory settlement. Cicero said it nicely when he opined that "in honorable dealing you should consider what you intended, not what you said or thought." Professor T. R. Loudon of the University of Toronto, a sportsman of long standing, was unanimously elected to the presidency, and may be relied upon to serve the amateur sportsmen of Canada carefully, enthusiastically and to good purpose.
