WHEREVER THERE ARE FLIES USE FLY-TOX

Kill the FLIES

You Can't Keep Your Food Under Glass

FOR health's sake the food must be kept fresh, clean, pure. Flies must be killed. They taint everything they touch. Disease germs drop from the maggoty ooze of the fly's filthy feet. That poisons food.

Use Fly-Tox. It is stainless, safe, sure. It costs little—half-pints fifty cents—and can be bought at your retailers—A trial sprayer is free with each small bottle.

FLY-TOX is the scientific insecticide that was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship

"Cabot II."

"You know, I think that since Cabot sailed from Bristol to discover Canada, somebody from Bristol should be included among the 50 young "Ambassadors of Empire". That is how this lad, Matthew A. Nicholson, age 17, of Bristol, England, son of a former pit workman, gained his place among the young travellers whose itinerary brought them to Canada this summer aboard the S.S. Alaunia to tour the Dominion from coast to coast under an unequalled Empire educational scheme, planned by the Allied Newspapers of Great Britain, the Cunard Line and the Canadian National Railways. Matthew had failed by a close margin in his examinations. As he made his exit from the scene of judgment, it occurred to him that the Cabot argument was his second hope.
