Anti-submarine exercises said "realistic and effective"

VICTORIA (CP)—The most extensive anti-submarine exercise ever conducted off Canada's west coast ended Tuesday with the return to Esquimalt of six destroyers of the 2nd Canadian escort squadron.

Working with the RCAF and the U.S. Navy's first fleet, the ships were under simulated wartime conditions 24 hours a day, supported for the first time by the fleet maintenance vessel HMCS Camp Breton and other Esquimalt-based auxiliaries.

Evaluating the exercise Tuesday Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, flag officer, Pacific coast, termed it "realistic and effective."

"Our ships and aircraft, and the men in action and in support, stood up to the pace extremely well," he said. "We were able to duplicate our knowledge and proficiency in anti-submarine warfare."

Admiral Finch-Noyes said officially it was the most extensive exercise ever carried out on this coast.

Worst polio year since '55

VANCOUVER (CP)—The number of persons afflicted with polio in British Columbia this year has risen to 87.

One new case, a two-year-old Victoria boy, was added to the list Tuesday.

Eight persons have died this year after being stricken with polio, all in Northern B.C.

Public health officials here said Tuesday they "could not contradict" a prediction that this will be the worst polio year in B.C. since the introduction of Salk vaccine in 1955. The prediction was made by Ian King, director of the B.C. Polio Foundation.

B.C. receives T.B. refugees

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first European refugees to enter British Columbia under the federal-provincial plan for tuberculosis treatment arrived here by air from Amsterdam Tuesday night.

The 19 refugees—three families and eight single persons—were greeted by provincial Health Minister Eric Martin. They were the last of a group of 67 to disembark in Western Canada.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

In counting a hand it is not always possible to be 100 per cent correct in determining the opponents' distribution, but if you consider the bidding and carefully watch the fall of the cards you can usually get some clues which will at least enable you to play with the odds in your favor.

Miss Brash made the right play in the spade suit in today's deal to bring home her contract. She led the jack of spades and after Mrs. Keen played low, went right up with dummy's king to trap the lone queen on her right.

"Luck, luck, luck," said Mr. Muzzy disgustedly, as he watched this play. To him, any play which he would not have made and which turns out well, is just lucky.

Miss Brash

But there was more to it than that. Miss Brash gave herself every chance to develop information and then played with the odds.

The defenders took the first two tricks with the ace and queen of diamonds. Mr. Muzzy won the second trick and returned the nine of hearts. Miss Brash won with dummy's jack.

Undoubtedly Mr. Muzzy would have won this third trick in his own hand and led a spade immediately. But Miss Brash saw a chance to get a little help.

She reasoned this way. Mr. Muzzy must have quite a diamond suit to come in at the three level. But he could not have both black aces or he would have opened the bidding.

However, he must hold one of them for if Mrs. Keen had three aces, she would have bid more—or doubled the four spade contract. The question was, which black ace did Mr. Muzzy hold?

For the answer to this, Miss Brash led the king of clubs from the board. The ace appeared on her right and she ruffed. She now decided to play Mrs. Keen for the ace of spades.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
3 ♦	3 ♠	4 ♦	4 ♠
All Pass

Opening lead: Ace of diamonds.

She led the jack of spades and the four was played on her left. Of course she still had a guess as Mrs. Keen might have started with all three outstanding spades.

Miss Brash thought some more. It occurred to her that if Mr. Muzzy was void in spades he might have opened the bidding with three diamonds or he might have sacrificed at five diamonds over the four spade bid. Besides, a 2-1 break in spades was more likely than a 3-0 break. On this "evidence" she went up with the king of spades and dropped the queen to make her contract.

INDIGESTED SUSPECT

TORQUAY, England (AP)—Francis Voisey, 47, was carried into court in this Devon resort on a stretcher to hear a charge of robbery. The trial was adjourned because in prison he swallowed a nail file, chain, spoon, safety-pin and his false teeth.
