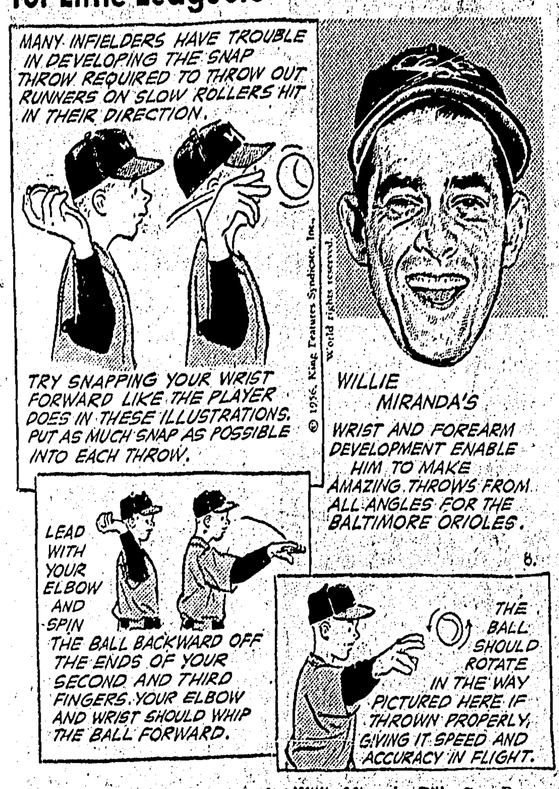
INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

by MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor



How can a player the size of a Willie Miranda, Billy Cox, Peewee Reese, Phil Rizzuto or Leo Durocher throw the ball with such tremendous speed? The answer is wrist and elbow action. Even though you are small in size, you can still throw the ball with plenty of speed and get rid of it in a split second. You can do this by developing and using your arms correctly.

As in all skills, this requires plenty of practice, but you get so much satisfaction out of being able to whistle the ball to the proper target that you will never regret the investment in practice time.

While you must learn to get rid of the ball with great speed when it bounces slowly toward you from the bat, be sure that you have caught the ball before you try to throw it. Plenty of errors come from trying to speed up a fielding play too much.

Champ Retains Canadian Title

HALIFAX (AP)— Richard (Kid) Howard of Halifax retained his Canadian lightweight boxing title with a one-punch seventh-round knockout over Jackie Hayden of Westville, N.S., Tuesday night.

Howard dropped the challenger at 1:58 with a paralyzing left to the body that draped Hayden over the ropes. The challenger was on his knees at nine but unable to get to his feet without assistance.

Both fighters weighed in at 133¼ for the scheduled 12-rounder, seen by a crowd of 5,200.
